

Looking Over Kingston's New Charter Proposals

The following series of articles will present in complete form the Proposed City Charter as developed by the Charter Revision Committee.

For a number of months a charter commission composed of Aldermen John Schwenk, Paul Zucca, Jacob H. Tromper, Jr., and Joseph Epstein, together with Jay Terry, president of the Kingston Taxpayers' Association, William B. Byrne, Walter E. Joyce, Corporation Counsel M. V. Cahill and Mayor C. J. Heiselman, has been writing a plan to modernize the city government and do away with much of the alleged inefficiency that exists at present under the board system. The results of the commission efforts will be found in the following series of articles, of which this is the third.

Eden, Litvinoff Parley Centered Today on Pact Of European Security

Observers Expect That Question of German Armaments Will Come Up as Anglo-Russian Combine is Hinted.

SIMON SPEECH

Sir John Talks To Crowded House of Commons; Berlin Has Feeling British Sympathetic.

By JOHN LLOYD
Associated Press Foreign Staff.
(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press)

Moscow, March 28.—Foreign Commissary Maxim Litvinoff and Capt. Anthony Eden, British Lord Privy Seal, today discussed "the conclusions to which the Berlin negotiations are leading" during a two-hour conference on the peace of Europe.

The British envoy, received with honors, talked to Litvinoff in the latter's office in the foreign ministry, and the description of the subject of their talk was made later by well-informed quarters, but these sources were unable to say what nature of "conclusions" were meant.

It was stated, however, that during their first conversation, Litvinoff and Eden "have had no disagreement on the problems discussed."

Their parley was described as being conducted in "an extremely friendly atmosphere."

Lord Chilston, the British ambassador to Russia, Ivan Malsky, the Russian ambassador to London, and William Strang of the British embassy, were present at the conference.

Captain informed Litvinoff of the conversations he and Sir John Simon, the British foreign secretary, had with Reichsminister Hitler and other German leaders in Berlin, and afterward the two exchanged information and opinions on the most important aspects of the European situation.

They are to meet again at 11:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Although nothing definite was said for publication while the statesmen were conferring, it was generally believed that they dealt principally with the proposed eastern European security pact.

Differences over this proposal constitute the chief stumbling block at present in the way of an agreement for a general European peace scheme.

Observers did not expect them to limit their talks to this subject, however, and thought that the question of German armaments surely would come up and that they very possibly were also considering the matter of security in the Far East, in which both Russia and Great Britain are interested.

Litvinoff's thesis is that the East and West are bound up in the matter of peace, as war, in his opinion, might easily spread to the other half of the world if it started in either place.

The Russians do not insist that Great Britain pledge military aid for the security of eastern Europe, but they want normal support which, they declared, is to Great Britain's interest as well as to that of the other nations involved.

If Great Britain were to give Russia such support, a formidable array of power would be lined up against Germany's attitude in holding out against the pact.

Simon's Speech

London, March 28 (AP).—Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon told the House of Commons today that the German government would not be asked to participate in the three power talks at Stresa, Italy, called as a result of Reichsminister Adolf Hitler's determination to have a German conscript army.

Simon, after talking earlier with King George at Buckingham Palace, and United States Ambassador Robert W. Bingham, faced the Commons.

He declined to reveal the official secrets of his conversations in Berlin with Hitler on matters concerning European peace.

He declared it was undesirable to make a full statement at present in view of the fact that a series of exploratory visits on the continent is continuing.

He did refer to "considerable divergences of opinion" between the German and British governments, although he maintained the results of the talks at Berlin were valuable because both sides were clearly able to understand each other's points of view.

The cabinet is making an elaborate survey of the entire European situation and expects to receive constant reports from Capt. Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, who now is in Moscow, on his swing around the eastern part of the continent.

While Simon was speaking in the house, Eden was engaged in negotiations at the Soviet capital relative to Soviet views on an eastern security pact.

County Democrats To Select W. R. Kraft's Successor on Monday

Postmaster William R. Kraft, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee, has called a special meeting of the committee to be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Kingston Municipal Auditorium for the purpose of submitting his resignation as county chairman. Mr. Kraft stated today that his choice to succeed him as chairman was City Judge Bernard A. Culliton.

Mr. Kraft's resignation as county chairman is due to the fact that he cannot hold the office of postmaster and that of county chairman at the same time.

At the meeting on Monday afternoon Postmaster Kraft will submit his resignation as county chairman, and the task of electing a county chairman will be left to the committee mentioned in that of City Judge Culliton, and it is expected that he will be elected to the office without opposition.

New Jersey Court Sets June 20 for Hearing Of Hauptmann Appeal

Trenton, N. J., March 28 (AP).—The Court of Errors and Appeals today fixed the date of June 20 for the hearing of Bruno Richard Hauptmann's appeal from conviction in the Lindbergh kidnap-murder.

The hearing will open at 10:30 a. m.

Chancellor Luther A. Campbell announced the date after the members of the court held a brief conference at which they considered defense Counsel Frederick A. Pope's request for a delay until October.

Chancellor Campbell told Pope the defense would be allowed three hours to present its arguments and that the state would be granted one hour and one-half.

He said the defense must divide as it sees fit time allotted. Three of the defense staff, Pope, Edward J. Reilly and Egbert Rosecrans, are to share the appeal arguments.

The three-hour period, Campbell said, will include any time required for the defense to reply to the state's arguments.

Pope's only comment was: "I think that is sufficient."

The defense attorney asked for an additional ten days in which to serve the assignments of error now being prepared in the appeal. The court granted his request.

Pope, in asking for the delay, told the court there was a "terrible lot of work to do" on the preparation of the case.

Chancellor Campbell indicated in the beginning, however, that he was not disposed to let the hearing go over until October.

"That is not only carrying it beyond the (February) term in which the writ (of error) was issued, but beyond the next term (May)," the chancellor said, commenting on Pope's request.

Attorney General David T. Wilentz, who directed Hauptmann's prosecution in the trial at Flemington, likewise voiced opposition to an extended delay.

"We have no objection to a reasonable delay, but to let it go until October would be entirely unreasonable," he stated, after informing the court the state was ready to oppose the appeal at the opening of the May term of the Court of Errors and Appeals on May 21.

Loss Eliminated

Albany, N. Y., March 28 (AP).—The possibility of workmen losing their compensation awards through failure of an insurance company was eliminated in New York state today with the signing of a bill by Governor Herbert H. Lehman setting up a state fund to insure future payments. The governor termed the measure the "most progressive step made in compensation security legislation in recent years," as he signed the bill.

Senator Wicks Attacks Bill to Abolish Post of Highway Superintendent

In Spite of Lawsuit Threat Measure Is Advanced To Order of Third and Final Reading By 23 to 14 Count.

EWIG'S LETTER

County Attorney Ewig's Letter to Senator Byrne Explaining the Desirability of Change.

Albany, March 28 (Special).—With apologies from its introducer, the Byrne-Hayes bill to abolish the office of highway superintendent in Ulster county and set up in its stead a county engineer met its first round of fire from the Republican forces of the Senate yesterday with Arthur H. Wicks leading the attack.

The debate was chiefly between William T. Byrne, of Albany, and Senator Wicks, of Kingston. The former admitted that the bill was offered to him by "Democratic sources in Ulster County," and that his action of its introduction was done with "apologies" to Mr. Wicks. Regardless of its political relationship, Senator Byrne believed the bill to have merit because of a letter explaining the desirability of such a change. The text of the letter, written to the senator by Arthur B. Ewig, is as follows:

"THE COUNTY ATTORNEY"

County of Ulster
"March 4, 1935
To the Honorable William T. Byrne, Senate Chambers, Albany, New York
My Dear Sir:

"Ulster County, like many other counties in the state, has a County Superintendent of Highways appointed under Section 50 of the Highway Law with the powers and duties imposed upon him by Section 33 of the same Law. Such powers and duties are of the character which the very title of the office implies, and do not extend beyond the general maintenance, repair and construction of county and town roads and bridges in the county. The county has no County Engineer and whenever it becomes necessary to require the services of an engineer in some other capacity or when any other county department requires the services of an engineer or surveyor, it is necessary to engage the services of some other person and at times our County Superintendent has performed such services for other departments and has received extra compensation for such services.

"Whether or not the payment and the receipt by him of such extra compensation is legal or not appears to be a doubtful question. The receipt of such moneys by him over and above his salary as County Superintendent of Highways was in fact one of the grounds for the removal of a county superintendent of highways in our county and the courts of this state have held in a case recently decided that such was not grounds for removal.

"The occasions when our County Superintendent of Highways can serve different departments of the county have been frequent in the past and can be expected to occur with like frequency in the future. The District Attorney's office, our Tuberculosis Hospital, our County Auditor and Purchasing Agent have in the past and can be expected in the future to require the services of an engineer. In addition, Ulster County is expected to take advantage of Chapter 847 authorizing County Boards of Supervisor to create county water authorities. If our county sees fit to do this for the protection of the residents and taxpayers of the county, the services of an engineer will undoubtedly be required. It will mean a considerable savings to the county to have all this engineering work done by one individual through one department, and it will be of great convenience to the different departments heads to be able to call upon such an engineer with knowledge that it is his duty to perform the services which their departments may have occasion to require.

"I understand that Nassau County has such an office, although I believe there are other counties in the State that have both the office of County Superintendent and County Engineer. I believe it would be to the advantage of this county that a law be enacted modeled upon Chapter 561 of the Laws of 1922, which law brought about the change in Nassau County, and any effort that you may put forth in this direction, I believe, will meet with the approval of a great number of the residents and taxpayers of this county.

"RECENTLY YOURS,"

"ARTHUR B. EWIG, County Attorney."

A similar letter was sent to Assemblyman John P. Hayes.

Stepping out from behind his desk onto the senate well so that he could be better heard, Wicks answered Byrne, declaring that he questioned publicly the truth of the statements contained in the Ewig letter, and that "it was the first time I have ever known the county attorney represent all the people of Ulster County."

Senator Wicks, led by the pro-engineering added, "There isn't anyone in the county with the exception of the county engineer who is in favor of the bill." He further added that he had talked with Democratic leaders in Ulster County and that they considered the bill a "most stupid piece of legislation."

Illness of Senator Wicks Delays Action on Bill

Albany, March 28 (Special).—The bill to abolish the office of Ulster county superintendent of highways has been put aside by Senator William T. Byrne, due to the illness of Senator Arthur H. Wicks and will be brought up next week. No further action will be taken in the matter until then in either the senate or the assembly.

Arthur Melchior, John Duffner and Albert G. Tyler Plead Guilty and Light Sentence Is Imposed by Justice Russell.

OTHER SENTENCES

Three Men Sentenced To Clinton State Prison, Two Others Get Suspended Sentences.

Pleading guilty to the robbery at the Weeks grocery store on March 2, 1935, Arthur Melchior, 19 years old, John Duffner, 16 years old, and Albert G. Tyler, 23, all of Kingston, were sentenced in supreme court this morning by Justice Russell to the New York State Reformatory at Elmira. The three lads were recently indicted by the grand jury for several burglaries and robberies in Kingston and vicinity.

In imposing the reformatory sentence Justice Russell stated that he was doing so with the hope that the youths might make good. Under the law, he informed the trio, he had power to sentence them to State Prison and that the law permitted a sentence of from 10 to 30 years for the serious crime of robbery, first degree. However, the judge stated that he had talked several times with them about the case and that in spite of the seriousness of the crime and the number of crimes in which they had apparently been involved he would take a chance with the hope that they might appreciate the court's action and try to make honest citizens of themselves. He further stated that the boys' families had always been highly respected and he could not understand why they had embarked on their series of crimes. Rather than take away their citizenship by imposing a state prison sentence Judge Russell said he would rather assume the responsibility of the lesser sentence and at least give them a chance to make good. In imposing the light sentence, he said, he was taking the families of the boys into consideration. He informed the three that the path of crime on which they had started always led to a serious end. The robbery charge he stated was a very serious one and there were in addition so many less serious charges.

Against Tyler the grand jury handed up five indictments last week; against Duffner were eight indictments and against Melchior were eight indictments, including two for robbery, first degree. At the time the indictments were handed up pleas of not guilty were entered by the three. Chris J. Flanagan appeared for Duffner and Melchior and Charles de la Vergne appeared for Tyler.

This morning all three changed their former plea of not guilty to indictment charging robbery, first degree, for the holding up of the Weeks grocery store on Furnace street on the evening of March 2, 1935, and entered pleas of guilty to that charge as named in indictment No. 2215.

Crim. Doesn't Pay, Warns Judge.
After imposing sentence Judge Russell informed the lads that he hoped the light sentence would be the cause of them attempting to make good and he warned them that there were still several indictments hanging over their heads and on which they might be brought into court at any time. Judge Russell also warned them that they would find that it did not pay to steal. He indicated that he had been brought to believe that the crimes had been committed because the lads wanted to possess cars and he warned them that if they needed money they should acquire it in a lawful manner and warned them against that destructive funds to acquire desired pleasures.

The arrest of the lads came about when overcoat stolen at a card party in St. Joseph's school hall were recovered in a shack on Albany avenue extension. State Trooper Reilly in making an investigation of that crime unparted the trio and from what the lads told the Trooper indictments were sought before the grand jury.

Robert Ennis, the fourth member of the gang, and indicted with them for several burglaries, was not in court and his case was transferred to county court.

Sentenced to Clinton State Prison.
Jesse Crispell, 24, who said he was born in the town of Rosendale and had lived in North Carolina, entered a plea of guilty to grand larceny, second degree, and on that plea was sentenced to a term of five years in Clinton State Prison at Dannemora. Crispell was charged with taking a car and driving away. He had a previous conviction of grand larceny, and was sentenced as a second offender.

Judge Russell, 28, entered a plea of guilty to burglary, third degree, and was sentenced as a second offender to a term of 10 years. Krater and de la Vergne served a term in Elmira Reformatory for a burglary charge, to which he pleaded guilty. Since then, he said, he had not lived with his wife and three children, who now reside in Middletown. His last visit there several months ago resulted in an argument and he had not seen them since.

Bernard Maine of Kingston pleaded guilty to forgery of a check. He, too, stated he had been convicted before.

Local Woman's Son Killed on TERA Project In Maybrook Village

Christopher O'Banks, son of Mrs. C. O'Banks of Kingston, was one of two relief workers killed Tuesday afternoon in Maybrook when they were buried under tons of shale rock and earth which suddenly broke through protective cribbing and filled the 12 foot ditch in which they were digging in a crouched position.

The other man was Andrew Bellerosa, 48, a widower, father of seven small children.

O'Banks had a wife and four children.

After the cave-in rescue squads worked feverishly for 15 minutes before O'Banks head was cleared and 10 minutes more before Bellerosa's head appeared above the dirt and rock. Taken from the ditch the two men were brought to a hall nearby, where the Rev. J. Joseph Keane, pastor of the Church of the Annunciation, administered the last rites of the Catholic Church.

All efforts to revive the men were of no avail.

Representatives of the TERA described the accident as unavoidable, and agreed that the proper safety precautions had been taken in the placing of protective wooden cribbing against the trench walls.

When the cave-in occurred O'Banks was loosening shale rock with a compressed air drill and Bellerosa was shoveling away the loose material behind him. Vibrations of the drill are believed to have been in part responsible for the accident.

The family of O'Banks, out of the village during the afternoon, did not learn of the tragedy for two hours. Besides his wife and children are five sisters, Mrs. Melissa Metz of Albany, Mrs. Kathryn Judson of Highmount, Mrs. Hyla Bodery of New Haven, Conn., Mrs. Rosetta Winchell of West Camp, Miss Beatrice O'Banks of Kingston; three brothers, Edward O'Banks of Danbury, Conn., John O'Banks of Port Ewen and Delancey O'Banks of Kingston.

His funeral will be held at the Gridley Funeral Home, Walden, Friday at 2:30 p. m. Burial will be in Wallkill Valley cemetery.

"You can't abolish a position by changing its title," Wicks answered, and gave the Democratic members a warning that if the bill passed that they would be inviting a lawsuit. "However," he concluded, "if the Democratic strident is going to work, I can be flattened out and come back."

In spite of his threat the measure was advanced to the order of third and final reading by a count of 23-14. A final vote is to be taken early next week and it will then be sent to the Assembly for concurrence unless action is first taken on the companion bill by John P. Hayes, which is due to have not been reported out of committee.

Wicks' Plan for New Court House To Be Erected Here

Albany, March 28 (Special).—A sudden burst of generosity on the part of Kingston's Republican senator, Arthur H. Wicks, to give a new court house to the 28 counties that comprise the Third Appellate Division came during his argument yesterday in opposition to the Albany county proposal of raising $800,000 by a bond issue for this purpose. Asked how he would go about getting such a structure built, the senator answered that he thought the local merchants would be willing to erect such a building as its purpose would bring business to his home city. Speaking in a more serious vein, however, Wicks argued that while he was in sympathy with the needs of such a courthouse, that people in his district should be given a chance to pay back taxes before new ones are added to them. "We have today pages and pages of property advertised for sale for unpaid taxes," he asserted, "give us a chance to pay these taxes and do not saddle more onto the farmers and other workers. If you want a court house take it down to Kingston and we'll give you one free."

Under the proposed plan, which had a public hearing last month, each of the 28 counties in the third judicial district would have to contribute its share toward defraying the expenditures. Estimated cost of the court house is $850,000, but provisions for contingencies will make a total of $800,000. Bonds bearing interest at the rate of three per centum and maturing serially over a period of 30 years would require an annual debt service of approximately $42,000 for the payment of interest and amortization of principal.

In sharing the burden of the new taxes, Ulster county would be levied 4.7 per cent of the grand total, based on a proportionate scale of assessed valuation of each county to the total. Its share of the maximum authorized debt is to be $37,600, and in annual expenses it is estimated it would have to raise $1,536.

Annual expenses chargeable to the counties are as follows:

Annual debt service	$42,000
Wages of five cleaning women	3,720
Engineer or general handyman	1,800
Elevator operator	1,500
Heat, water, light, and power, insurance, telephone and miscellaneous expenses	7,200
Expenses of commission	750

Total $54,970.

This last figure may be compared with the present cost of the Court of Appeals building which is set at $34,000, a difference of $20,970.

Other opponents to the bill spoke were Senators Martin W. Deyo and C. Tracey Stagg. Deyo pointed out that approval of county boards of supervisors, whose duty it was to collect such taxes that would be imposed, was necessary for an endorsement, and that word was received from his home group he could not favor adding another burden to his people. Attacking the proposal from the angle that a request for this new courthouse did not come from the justices of the third appellate division made it apparent that present quarters were sufficiently adequate. Stagg could see no justification in this measure.

Ogden J. Ross, Rensselaer Democrat, expressed himself in sympathy with the idea, but he too, wanted approval by his county's supervisors. The introducer, William T. Byrne, of Albany, consented to have his measure put over until representatives have a sufficient opportunity to get word from home supervisors before further action is taken.

Lupescu Dealings

Paris, March 25 (AP).—Stock market dealings of the red-haired Madame Marda Lupescu, friend of King Carol of Rumania, were revealed in testimony before a committee investigating the Stavisky scandal. A banker named Constant Costachescu, against whom there are several complaints of fraudulent financial operations, told the committee he had made good Mme. Lupescu's stock losses in 1929 at the request of Judge Albert Prince, whose body was found later on a railroad track outside Paris. He said Mme. Lupescu had been introduced by a person of noble birth and had filed complaint against him over losses in stocks which were traded through his bank. He said Judge Prince called him to the courthouse and told him Mme. Lupescu was "one of his friends," whereupon he agreed to pay her back.

Vienna Guard Shows Its Strength Today

Vienna, March 28 (AP).—Cannon roared, machine guns stuttered and airplanes dived from the clouds today in a double demonstration of military force on the outskirts of Vienna.

It was primarily a demonstration of the military preparedness of the Vienna Heimwehr—the loyal Fascist followers of Emil Fey, minister of the interior—calculated to discourage those who lately have been talking about the necessity of abolishing the Heimwehr.

Secondarily, it was a demonstration of the Austrian capacity for military defense in case the regular army of 30,000 troops allowed under the Versailles treaty should be lost or mislaid.

The Heimwehr troops divided themselves into two "armies" for the purposes of the maneuvers. The second force was to dislodge this "enemy."

While this was going on the upper Austrian Heimwehr sent a delegation to Vienna assuring Prince Ernst von Starhemberg—the Austrian vice chancellor and supreme leader of the Heimwehr—of its determination to resist dissolution "whenever our leader calls and may that be soon; we are ready."

Simultaneously the Catholic Storm Troops (Premier Kurt Schuschnigg's volunteer army) which is closely affiliated with the anti-Heimwehr Peasants' League (led by Minister of Agriculture Reicher) was advertising in Catholic newspapers for new recruits. The Socialist Republican Guard, which was defeated and driven underground in the rebellion of February, 1934, did not figure openly in these maneuvers of the private army. However, ten telephone booths in the working class section of suburban Floridsdorf have been dynamited in the last 24 hours, presumably by left radicals. Such dynamiting carries the death penalties if the perpetrators are caught.

Another thing this nation needs is a political traffic cop. No party will keep in its own lane.

Belgian Bourses Close Three Days on Order, Fall of Gold Bloc Seen

Brussels, Belgium, March 28 (AP).—The government ordered the Belgian Bourses to remain closed for the next three days, beginning today.

The order was published in a special edition of the official gazette. There will be no quotations of foreign exchange in the country during the period the Bourses are closed.

Closing of the Bourses was the government's first open step to clarify the country's perplexing situation. The general view expressed in financial quarters is that a devaluation will be announced at a joint convocation of parliament tomorrow.

The inclusion of Socialists in the newly created cabinet of Premier Paul Van Zeeland is regarded as settling the devaluation issue and leaving open only the question of the amount and whether the belga will continue to be linked with the gold bloc or join the sterling ranks.

It was announced at the ministry of finance that no statement on devaluation policy would be made until the ministerial declaration is issued by Premier Van Zeeland.

A small committee of cabinet members was in session to discuss the terms of this declaration which it is expected will be definitely adopted at a meeting of the government tonight. The declaration will be presented to the chamber for discussion tomorrow.

Immediately after the government discloses its program, it will introduce two bills, one of which will be a monetary measure fixing the percentage of devaluation. The second bill is expected to seek extensive powers for one year to enable the government to pursue a policy of guided economy somewhat after the methods of President Roosevelt.

Although the stock exchange was closed, banks remained open and were allowed to buy small sums of sterling at yesterday's official rate of 102.65 francs to the pound. They were prohibited from selling foreign currencies.

The government issued restrictions requiring special licenses for transportation of gold by rail, air, motor or post.

It was emphasized in official circles that closing of the Bourses was decided upon solely to prevent speculation and that there was no sign of a financial panic anywhere in the country.

Collapse of Bloc Seen.

Paris, March 28 (AP).—A collapse of the gold bloc within a few months was feared by financiers today as a consequence of the reported imminent devaluation of Belgian currency, a sudden Swiss monetary crisis, and the increasing gravity of the French money situation.

The closing of the Belgian bourses today was taken as a signal that devaluation was imminent or that the belga would be permitted to drift.

French government circles said they accepted a Belgian desertion from the gold standard as inevitable since France refused aid which former Premier Georges Theunis of Belgium sought March 18. The refusal forced the resignation of Theunis and his cabinet.

The belga dropped on the foreign exchange today 3.24 points to 2.90 francs.

Switzerland's problem became acute through the reported flight of 100,000,000 Swiss francs during the last few days. Exchange experts said this constituted a serious drain on Switzerland and was dangerous because of the tight situation of all gold bloc countries.

The inflationary movement in Switzerland has gained such force that a referendum has been ordered for June on an economic plan which gold supporters here said might lead to devaluation of the Swiss franc even without the difficulties a Belgian defection from the ranks would cause.

The government of Premier Plandin remained solid for the present gold franc in public, but political opposition to the cabinet is predicting a crisis during the summer.

Devaluation of the belga would increase pressure on France three ways: (1) lower prices and sharpen Belgian competition with France; (2) protective tariffs against Belgian products also would hit France as in the case with the British increased duty on metal products; (3) Belgium's departure would weaken the gold bloc both in fact and psychologically.

Lehman Signs Medical Abuses Bill Today

Albany, N. Y., March 28 (AP).—Governor Herbert H. Lehman today signed the O'Brien Kantowski bill to eradicate medical abuses such as fee-splitting and solicitation of injured in connection with administration of the workmen's compensation law.

The law, one of the governor's major labor program proposals, increases the membership of the state industrial council from 10 to 15 and enlarges its powers to carry on the drive to improve medical care in compensation cases.

Dr. Arthur J. Bedell of Albany, president of the State Medical Society, who witnessed signing of the bill, explained its provisions as follows:

"This law," he declared, "gives local county medical societies the opportunity to recommend qualified physicians for the various phases of compensation practice. These local groups of doctors will immediately take action to set up machinery to make the law effective."

"For 20 years the old law has encouraged a system of selecting these doctors so that factors other than the character and fitness of the individual physician have been the deciding elements in determining the man to be employed. For years the medical profession has tried to obtain legislation to remedy a vicious system which has resulted in conditions little short of disgraceful. The new law will go a great way to cure these evils."

"A new feature of the law will be that five physicians, named by the governor on the recommendation of the state society, are to represent the profession on the labor council, which has the ultimate responsibility for administering the law. This group of doctors will have supervision of all medical phases of the act."

Du Pont Estate Goes To Columbia as Gift

Irrington, N. Y., March 28 (AP).—The estate here of Mrs. T. Coleman du Pont has been deeded to Columbia University and may be used as a summer school, it was learned today.

Mrs. du Pont, widow of the late General du Pont who died here three years ago, is at her home in Wilmington. She has not resided here since the death of her husband.

Officials at Columbia said today they were not ready to divulge plans for use of the 67-acre estate overlooking the Hudson river. It was reported here that one of several houses on the grounds will be used as a museum and that summer classes will be held here. The name of General du Pont will be perpetuated in the project, it is understood.

It was also reported that Mrs. du Pont refused an offer of several hundred thousand dollars for the estate about a year ago from an individual who is now building a $250,000 home at Rye. The property is assessed at $261,000. Whether it will be removed from the tax rolls will not be known until the use to which Columbia will put the property is ascertained.

Helps Nature Keep Sinus Drainage Clear

Dart Baseball Game
Friday evening the dart baseball team of Charles DeWitt Council will play the Cornell Hose Company in place of the Cordis team as was previously announced.

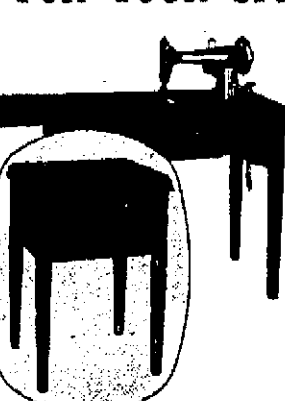

Your druggist has a prescription that affords a heating stimulant that aids nature to keep sinus drainage clear.

This prescription, used by thousands, is known as SINASIPTEC.

Used as directed in the upper nasal passages, it reduces symptoms of fullness, aches and pains, and also reduces chances of more severe sinus trouble—your pharmacist knows this.

Needless to say Sinasiptec is a splendid cleansing wash when nostrils are clogged with mucus or filled with mucus resulting from common colds.—Advt.

IRRATIONAL GLOOM

Addressing a luncheon meeting of 1,000 merchants and industrialists in New York recently, Joseph P. Kennedy, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, spoke some straight truths which the whole country needs to hear.
 In the first place, he pointed out,
 the gloom now prevalent in New York and spreading across the country is not justified. He said:

The fact is that able business men, wisely advised, have flashed a green light signalling that the road ahead is clear of disaster. There can no longer be any excuse for further delay.

Things never are quite as hopeless as they are made to appear by fear. Men see business sustained at a rate which would have been considered impossible two years ago, yet they continually cry out against the uncertainty of things.

Business is still not only better than confidence; it is better than we deserve to have it. We have not matched results with our courage.
 We have not been grateful enough for a 34 per cent increase in general business.

Invest in America! Its people have purchasing power, cash reserves, bank balances and savings accounts. Hoarding, mental hoarding and spiritual hoarding, keep these resources in hiding. The great American people whose common sense solved every crisis in their history have never failed to respond to sane, courageous leadership.

So I appeal to you, "Be yourselves." Don't dodge the duties of citizenship by blaming government interference for the lack of business initiative and enterprise. Government interference—illitics, if you will—we have always had with us, yet our predecessors went ahead and developed this marvelous land which we enjoy today.

It would be well if the rest of the country would treat that metropolitan gloom as a focal infection to be kept from spreading and eradicated by prompt treatment before it makes the whole body sick.

INCOME OR SALES TAXES

When the Massachusetts legislature recently was considering a sales tax to provide new revenue, Edward
 A. Filene, wealthy Boston merchant, went before the lawmakers and asked them to increase taxes on the rich rather than lay a grievous tax on the poor. This, he maintained, was not merely social justice but a necessity for business itself. His argument is presented for the business philosophy it preaches. He said:

When organized business throughout America once grasps the imminent danger of the present crisis, there will be little agitation for the sales tax as opposed to the income tax, excepting on the part of those who have no thought of government excepting the desire to use it to keep their special privileges intact.

For this depression, we must recognize was brought about by just one basic cause. That was, the masses of Americans who could not buy the ever-increasing volume of products of American industry. How much the masses could buy depended on two things: first, how much they received in wages; second, the price demanded for the goods.

The sales tax obviously increases prices to the consumer, and thus restricts the market for all legiti-mate business at a time when the great business need is for an increase of that market. I do not claim any novelty here, then, in urging the legislature of Massachusetts to shun the sales tax as an economic plague.

The way to widen the base of the income tax is not to impose taxes upon those who have no incomes more than enough to keep their families alive. The way is to provide income to the masses of American people and when American business is sufficiently alive to its business responsibilities, it will see that this is done.

WILDFLOWER GARDENS

Cultivated wildflowers may sound like a contradiction, but that is the end sought by a young biology student in Flora Stone Mather College of Western Reserve University. Under direction of the professor of botany she is working on ways of raising wildflowers from seed. If she succeeds, nature lovers can buy wild flower seeds and grow them in special corners of their gardens reserved for the purpose.

So far wildflower gardens in backyards have been made by the difficult work of transplanting from woods and fields the roots of the particular flowers wanted. Sometimes the transplantation was successful.
 More often the plants died because soil or shade or moisture was not the same as in their native haunts.

It will mean greater safety for the remaining stands of rare wildflowers if people wanting to have them blooming nearer home can get a packet of seeds and proper instructions for their planting and proceed to raise them. And if it all sounds a bit silly, let the person who has had a tiny wildflower patch in his city yard tell of the pleasure it has given him.

DISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH

William Allen White, of Kansas, addressing students of Beloit College, says this generation has been concentrating too much on the acquisition of wealth and not enough on its distribution.

Intelligent people now agree about this. Not merely as a moral precept, either, but as an economic principle.
 It is a hard fact, proved by the last boom and depression, that when wealth is not well distributed, people cease to acquire it. When wealth flows into a few hands, or into banks or manufacturing plants, and stays there, the people's buying power falls, profits cease, the well-off themselves have to live on their own fat, and eventually that fat is used up.

Along with wider distribution of the profits of money and machinery,
 Mr. White urges the use of economic surpluses for a social security program. Joseph and Pharaoh originated that idea in Egypt long ago. We could save much, even of perishable

RHEUMATISM.

It is believed that rheumatism is the oldest ailment known and yet it is responsible for more illness, more loss of time from employment, than any other known ailment.

In an effort to relieve the pain, crippling, and loss of employment, physicians in every country are organizing societies for the prevention and treatment of rheumatism.

As with every form of treatment for any ailment the importance of one method has been exaggerated with the pendulum swinging then too much the other way, so also has it been with the removal of infected teeth in treating rheumatism.
 So dramatic were the cures of rheumatism by removing all of teeth and tonsils that for a time practically all cases were advised to have teeth and tonsils removed. As many of these cases were not due to infected teeth or tonsils, and in others too much damage to joints had already been done even when the cause was teeth or tonsils, the removal of teeth and tonsils for rheumatism fell into disfavor.

Now the truth of the matter is that infected teeth and tonsils are still responsible for more cases than any other single cause, but there are other parts or organs of the body that can cause rheumatism by poisoning the blood stream and these other organs are often overlooked.

One of the worst offenders is the large intestine; not only holds poisons from other parts within it but also manufactures poisons of its own which, absorbed by the blood, carry trouble to the joints of the body and rheumatism results. The gall bladder is another source of infection causing rheumatism.

However food is now considered factor and the starch foods—pot-toes, bread, sugar—are blamed to aggravating or prolonging rheumatism.

The weather is an important factor; when the atmospheric pressure is low the rheumatic patients in hospitals all complain bitterly of pain and "misery."

That the form of employment is a factor is recognized and it has been said that each trade has its own brand of rheumatism or arthritis.

When the patient is not overweight
 it is believed that more fluid—water—should be taken to help the kidneys rid the blood of waste products.

GREAT RICHES

by Michael Howe Farnham

SYNOPSIS: James Stinson, III, has been lucked into asking the wealthy Jane Northrup to marry him while Leslie Harris the girl he could not seem to forget, ready for a month. Now James accustomed to his position as the last of the Stinson men finds that Jane and her mother have taken charge of him. He tries to rebel when Jane insists on living in a house across the street from her mother's house in the old and beautiful Stinson house.

Chapter 22

DEFEAT

"WELL then," demanded Jane,
 "do you think it's fair when my mother is giving up everything and you're getting what she loves best, that I should consider your wishes entirely instead of here—in one little matter? I want to do what you want of course. But I can't be happy if you force me to hurt Mother
 so, just at this time."

There seemed nothing for James to say after that but that of course they would live in the Tyler place.
 But he said it ungraciously. When he kissed Jane goodnight she clung to him with unusual tenderness and whispered shyly in his ear how much she loved him and how happy he had made her.

Jane was not overly given to tenderness or demonstrations—she accepted rather than gave—so

James squirmed in his chair, but said no more. In his heart of hearts he felt the arguments were all on the side of his aunt.

Mr. Northrup was as good as his word. He not only bought the Tyler place at a generous price but had the deed made out in his daughter's name and told her she could go as far as she liked in making it over to please her.

It was a conventional brick house of the type much favored in the eighties when it was built, and Jane spent many radiant weeks in overseeing its alteration.

JAMES went through the house with Jane from cellar to garret.
 He thought it was hideous and could manage no more than a grug-ging, "It isn't so bad."

"I should say it isn't, you ungrateful old bear," Jane laughed.
 "But wait until I get through with it. Wait until you see my plans."

Jane did not seem to be offended, but neither did she show him the plans nor invite James to inspect the house again until the carpenters and plumbers had finished and the painters and paper hangers were about to move in.

Then she led him proudly to the second floor to show him two shiny new bathrooms—actually two bath-

Jane whispered how much she loved him.

James left her with a mingled tumult of emotions. But as he came out from the Northrup's front door and saw the Tyler house looming darkly before him, he glared at it balefully and felt that a thousand mocking eyes behind those hooded staring windows were glaring bale-fully back.

James and the Tyler house were open enemies from that moment and they never more than barely tolerated each other at any time thereafter.

In the morning the unpleasant task awaited him of breaking the news to his Aunt Sarah. As he expected, she took it badly. She was not only angry—she was bitterly offended and she and James almost quarreled. James naturally defended Jane.

"But wouldn't any girl want to live near her own mother," he argued. "That is any girl who really loved her mother?"

"It seems to me that if your mother could come here from Kentucky and your grandmother all the way from New England that Jane Northrup might be able to live a couple of miles from North Fifth and Oak Streets," said Miss Sarah, her voice trembling.

James thought that an entire downstairs that could be seen at a glance looked like a hotel. He said bluntly, "When I go in a room I like to be able to close the door behind me. Look it when I want to."

"That's rather old-fashioned, isn't it?"

"Perhaps I'm old-fashioned."

"Perhaps you are. I'll have to educate you out of it. Anyway, you'll have the library. I've planned to make that your special den. You can lock yourself in there as often as you please."

James inspected his future sanctuary gloomily. At least it had a fireplace and had had a black marble mantel. Now that was gone and in its stead stood a horror in elaborately carved oak with little fretted balconies which reached to the ceiling.
 It stood back to back with its twin in the entrance hall. Between them was a square opening with its top and sides lined with mirrors. The opening destroyed the last vestiges of possible privacy in the library.

"What's the idea of that hole?"
 James asked.

"Isn't it pretty? That's my idea entirely. I mean to keep fresh flowers there. They'll be reflected in the three mirrors."

It seemed so awful to James that he laughed.

rooms; there was a lavatory besides on the ground floor under the stairs.
 James admired the bathrooms.

He hoped to have one entirely to himself, but Jane explained that one in the front was for her use and that of their guests, while he would share the back one with their servant. Oh well. There was a single bathroom in his old home.

Jane had not been able to change the shape of the rooms as she wished but she had added a bay window to the back parlor and had nearly all the doors on the lower floor torn out and enlarged into open passageways, flanked on either side by solid oak pillars.

"I like a house to open up grandly and give an air of spaciousness," Jane pointed out. "It will be so nice when we are entertaining." She waited for compliments.

James thought that an entire

 bluntly, "When I go in a room I like
 to be able to close the door behind

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—Many senate observers are opining that if something isn't done to stop Huey Long from shooting so consistently at personal privileges and prerogatives which senators enjoy, the members may some day find themselves without them.

There is, for example, it is pointed out, his latest thrust at the highly convenient and enjoyed custom of the "kingfish" was unable to obtain pairs for Senators Caraway of Arkansas and Overton of Louisiana for the "prevailing wage" amendment to the work-relief bill he went on a rampage, threatening a filibuster and everything else.

"Pairing" votes is the parliamentary custom in which a senator who for one reason or another, absents himself from a session pairs his name with another who holds opposite views. The effect is to nullify the votes of each.

The 'Catch'

THERE'S a catch, however. There is nothing in the rules of the senate about "pairing." The custom was borrowed from the British parliamentary system at the beginning of the republic and has been practiced since.

The Congressional Record is sprin-gled with accounts of bitter debates on the subject. John Quincy Adams condemned it as a "bad practice."

In the words of Senator Ashurst of Arizona, who boasts that in all his 22 years in the senate he has been paired only once and that the custom is "contra bonos parlamentum" or contrary to good parliamentary law.
 That makes no difference to the "kingfish," however.

House Pairings

AT that neither Long nor any other senator probably will push the matter too far. The practice of pairing is too convenient to senators to throw it into discard.

The house of representatives recognizes openly the validity of pairing. Provision is made for a "pair clerk" as a regular employee. A member has only to have the pair clerk arrange a pair for him at the beginning of the day and it stands throughout the session.

The senate declines to do this,
 however, because of senators' fondness for shifting pairs when important legislation is being voted on.
 Sometimes these shifts are made with lightning rapidity and often have spelled success or failure for bills.

No. 3—Introducing Agnes

Now that Barnum & Bailey's circus has come and gone things have been kinder slow around Kingston, but Dad says it was plenty fast enough for him as I was always getting him in hot water with the neighbors and that if I didn't walk a chalk line in the future he would wale hale columbia outer me—and that's why I have been kinder watching my step lately.

Jack, he's my chum, came over to the house last night and after we had played a couple of games of croquet he says what we do next and I sorter suggested we make a coupler sling shot. We did and then we helped ourselves to a lot of buckshot from Dad's hunting bag and started out to pepper cats. There is an awful lot of cats in the neighborhood and it sure is fun to see 'em jump when you pepper 'em.

We were having a good time until Jack slung a shot through an old derby hat that was setting on top of old man Snickers' fence, only it wasn't on the fence it was on his head and he hadn't seen him. It was a good shot though for it knocked the derby for a gool and plugged a hole right through it.

I tell you what, old man Snickers was ripterling mad and the old hat wouldn't have brung a nickel at any burch rummage sale. He came pik-ing out of his gate hot-footed but he was out of sight and he wouldn't have known yet who did it if old Doc Whisper, who saw us, hadn't told him, and he came raring around to the house and wanted Dad to buy him a new hat and to wale the life out of me.

Well Dad didn't want any trouble with the old man and gave him a dollar and said he would lick me.
 He didn't but he made me take a dollar out of my Christmas bank saying maybe it would be a lesson to me.

Jack wanted to pay the dollar only he didn't have it, but I told him no it was my treat and anyway we would make old Doc Whisper sweat before the week was out.

Old Doc sings tenor in the church choir and has been there so long they can't get rid of him, and the next night the Sunday school gave us an entertainment and Doc sang a solo. The old geezer thinks he's the world's best tenor.

That concert gave me an idea and I told it to Jack and he said it didn't sound half bad, and the next day I wiped some of my sister's stationery and I wrote a nice line hand to Doc Whisper that I had fallen in love with his lovely voice at the concert and said I would like to meet him personally, and that I would be in front of the post office at 8 o'clock that night. Then I signed it Agnes and dropped some of sister's perfumery on the note and mailed it.
 Doc's office so his wife, who they say opens all his mail, wouldn't read
 it.

Well Doc got the note alright and said died laffing for Doc is like a lot of these old fellows who think every girl is smashed on them and he used his office early so as to get some and doll up to meet Agnes.
 We couldn't have picked out a better night for a rain storm came up while Doc was standing on the corner waiting for Agnes. Me and Jack made it a point to stroll past and I said "good evening Doc" but he only grunted. Then it began to rain hard and Doc shouted into the post office doorway.

What made it kinder hard on Doc was the fact that he had to keep an eye on all the girls as Agnes had selected to mention in the note that she would wear so he could pick her out. It's hard saying how long the old geezer would have waited for Ag

government of the city and the management of its business, for the preservation of good order, peace and health, for the safety and welfare of its inhabitants and the protection and security of their property; and its authority, except as otherwise provided in this Charter or by law, is legislative only.

Sec. 31. MEMBERS: PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE; ORGANIZATION. The president of the Common Council, together with the four Councilmen, shall constitute the Common Council of the city. The members of the Common Council shall meet in the room provided for that purpose at eight o'clock in the evening of the second day of January, nineteen hundred and thirty six, and each year thereafter, or if that day be Sunday or a legal holiday, then on the next day, and organize. The Common Council at its first meeting annually shall elect from among its members a President Pro-Tempore who shall have the power of the President of the Common Council during the absence or disability of the President or while the President is acting as Mayor; and in the event that the President of the Common Council shall become Mayor, due to the illness or other incapacities of the Mayor, or due to a vacancy in the office of the Mayor, then the President Pro-Tempore shall succeed to and be the President of the Common Council with all the powers delegated to such office, until the next general election at which time a successor can be elected. The President Pro-Tempore of the Common Council shall also vote as a member of the Common Council. The Common Council shall also constitute and appoint such other officers and committees as may be needed for the execution of the powers herein and hereby granted to the Common Council.

Sec. 32. PRESIDENT. The President of the Common Council shall preside at all meetings of the Common Council and must vote on all questions of said body.

Sec. 33. CITY CLERK. The Common Council shall appoint, to hold office during its pleasure, a City Clerk, who shall attend the meetings of the Common Council, keep a minute book of its proceedings and discharge such other duties as may be prescribed by this Charter or by law or ordinance. He shall appoint to hold office during his pleasure, except as otherwise provided by law, such subordinates as may be prescribed by the Board of Estimate. It shall be the duty of the said clerk to transmit to the head of each department and clerk of each board copies of all ordinances in any manner affecting any of the matters of which any such department or board shall have jurisdiction. He shall have the custody of the City Seal and shall be the clerk to all boards unless otherwise provided by law, or by the Board of Estimate, or by this Charter. The City Clerk shall keep an accurate account of all moneys received and disbursed by him under or in pursuance of any provision of law or ordinance, and shall report such receipts and disbursements weekly in detail, and shall pay over the balance thereby shown to the Commissioner of Finance on or before Saturday noon of each week. The City Clerk shall issue and collect for all licenses, unless otherwise provided by the laws of the State of New York or ordinances of the City enacted prior to the adoption of this Charter.

Sec. 34. MEETINGS. The Common Council shall hold its regular meeting at 8:00 P. M. on the first Tuesday of each month, or if that day be a holiday, then on the next day. The Mayor, or the President of the Common Council, or a majority of its members, may call a special meeting of the Common Council by causing a written notice thereof, specifying the objects of the meeting, to be served upon each member personally before the time fixed for such meeting, or by mail directed to his place of residence or place of business at least twenty-four hours before the time fixed for the meeting.

Sec. 35. POWERS. The Common Council shall determine the rules of its own proceedings and be the judge of the election returns and qualifications of its members. Its meetings shall be public and its records open to public inspection and a majority of all of its members shall constitute a quorum to do business. The Common Council may compel the attendance of absent members at any meeting properly called, and may punish or expel a member for disorderly conduct, for a violation of its rules or for official misconduct, or declare his seat vacant by reason of absence, provided such absence has continued for a space of four months, but no expulsion shall take place and no vacancy on account of absence be declared except by a vote of a majority of all the members of the Common Council nor until the delinquent member has had an opportunity to be heard in his defense. All acts of the Common Council shall be determined by a vote taken by a roll call of its members, and a statement of the choice of each member, or the yeas and nays, if any, shall be entered in the minute book.

Sec. 36. LEGISLATIVE ACTS. All the legislative acts of the Common Council shall be by ordinance, and on the passage of every ordinance the yeas and nays of the members voting thereon shall be entered in full on the minute book. The passage of an ordinance shall require the affirmative vote of at least a majority of all the members of the Common Council. Except by unanimous consent, no ordinance shall be passed by the Common Council on the same day in which it is introduced.

Sec. 37. PROCEDURE AFTER PASSAGE OF ORDINANCE. Every ordinance of the Common Council shall, immediately after its passage, be separately typewritten or printed and signed by the President of the Common Council and attested by the Clerk. The Clerk shall thereupon present the same to the Mayor. If the Mayor approves it, he shall sign it and return it to the Clerk, and the ordinance shall thereupon take effect. If he disapproves it, he shall return it to the Clerk with his objections stated in writing, and the Clerk shall present the same with such objections to the Common Council at its next regular meeting. The Common Council may, within thirty days thereafter, reconsider the same; if, after such consideration four-fifths of all the members of the Common Council shall vote to pass the ordinance, the same shall take effect notwithstanding the objections of the Mayor, unless a greater number of members as were requisite for the original passage of the ordinance shall vote to pass the ordinance it shall not take effect. If any ordinance shall not be returned by the Mayor to the Clerk within ten days after it shall have been presented to him, or if such ordinance shall be returned within that period without the Mayor's approval or disapproval, the same shall take effect in like manner as if the Mayor had approved and signed it. If any ordinance presented to the Mayor contains several items of appropriation of money or embraces more than one distinct subject, the Mayor may approve the provisions relating to one, or more items, or one, or more subjects, and disapprove the other or others. In such case those items or subjects which he shall approve shall take effect and he shall append to the ordinance at the time of the signing it a statement of the items or subjects which he disapproves, and said items or subjects so disapproved shall not take effect. He shall return to the Clerk a copy of such statements and the items, or subjects, disapproved may be separately re-stated and considered by the Common Council and shall only become effective, if considered by the Common Council and shall only become effective, if again passed by it, as above provided. All the provisions of this section shall apply in relation to ordinances disapproved by the Mayor shall apply in cases in which he shall disapprove any item or subject contained in an ordinance appropriating money or embracing more than one distinct subject.

Sec. 38. RECORD OF ORDINANCES. Every ordinance shall, upon its taking effect as herein provided, be recorded in a book kept for that purpose by the Clerk. Such records shall include the signature of the President, attestation of the Clerk and the Mayor's written approval, or, in case of his disapproval, a memorandum of his passage over his veto; or, in case the ordinance took effect because he failed to approve or disapprove and return within ten days, then a memorandum to that effect. Such record, or a certified copy thereof, shall be presumptive evidence of the passage of the ordinance and of the facts certified. The original ordinances for each year shall be bound together and kept in the custody of the Clerk.

Sec. 39. ADMINISTRATIVE CODE. The Common Council shall by ordinance not inconsistent with this Charter, or with other laws of the State, regulate the powers and duties of city officers and departments, such ordinance to be known as the "Administrative Code of the City of Kingston," but no ordinance shall be passed interfering with the exercise of the executive functions of the officers, departments, and boards of the city, as provided in this Charter or otherwise by law. The Council shall have power and it shall be its duty by ordinance to designate the different rooms and offices in the City Hall, or in any building used as such, to be occupied by the various courts, officers, boards and departments of the city.

Sec. 40. ALTERATION OF GRADES AND NAMES OF STREETS. The grade of any street shall not be fixed or established except by direction of the Common Council. The grade of a street heretofore, or hereafter legally established, shall not be changed, except by direction of the Common Council. The Common Council shall have full power to change or alter, by ordinance, the name of any street, avenue, place or highway in the City, at any time, in the discretion of said Common Council, and said ordinance may prescribe the period of time for which said ordinance shall be published.

Sec. 41. REQUIRING IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE. The Common Council may require the improvement of any of the items specified in this Article to be made, done or constructed by the owner or owners of the land adjoining such sidewalk. In such case the resolution shall specify the improvement to be made, the kind and quality of materials, and the manner and time within which the same shall be completed. In addition to the publication of the resolution, the Common Council shall cause a copy thereof to be served upon the owners or occupants, either personally or by depositing a copy thereof securely enclosed in a post-paid wrapper in the post office of said city addressed to such owner or occupant at his last known place of residence. If the name of such owners, or occupants, cannot be ascertained, the publication of the resolution shall be deemed sufficient notice. Affidavits of service, mailing or publication of such resolution shall be filed in the office of the City Clerk, and such affidavits, or certified copies thereof, shall, in all courts and places be deemed evidence of the facts stated therein. In case the improvements so specified shall not be done in the manner, or of the material or within the time required, the Common Council may cause the Superintendent of Public Works to make, do and complete the same, and cause the entire expense thereof to be assessed against the delinquent owners of the adjoining lands, assessing against each lot or parcel the expense of the improvement adjoining it and collect the same as a special assessment as herein provided.

Sec. 42. CONSTRUCTION OF NEW STREETS. Hereafter, whenever the Common Council shall determine to regulate, grade, pave or otherwise improve any new streets, avenue, highway or public place in the City, there shall be included in the plans and specifications therefor, and as a part of said improvement, specifications for the construction of sidewalks and curbs on said new street or streets, avenue, highway or public place; the material, dimensions, etc. of which said sidewalks and curbs shall be constructed, shall be specified in said specifications, and said sidewalks and curbs shall be constructed as a part of said improvement. The cost and expense of the construction of said sidewalks shall be apportioned and assessed upon the several abutting properties at the same time, in the same manner, and with like effect as the cost and expense of the said regulating, grading, paving or other improvement made on said new street or streets, avenue, highway or public place aforesaid, and as part thereof. Before any property owner shall place a sidewalk, curb or cut curb for a driveway, he shall obtain from the Superintendent of Public Works, or his duly appointed agent, written permission to proceed with the work.

Sec. 43. DISCONTINUANCE OF STREETS. Whenever the Common Council shall contemplate the discontinuance of any street, it shall cause a notice to be published for ten days in the official paper or papers of the City of its intention so to do and that all persons interested may be heard in reference thereto at a time stated in such notice. If it shall be determined to discontinue the street and any person shall claim to be damaged by such discontinuance, such alleged damages, unless agreed to by the Superintendent of Public Works and approved by the Board of Estimate, must be ascertained and determined in the manner provided by law for ascertaining damages for lands taken for the opening of streets. An ordinance discontinuing any street shall require the affirmative vote of the majority of all the members of the Common Council.

Sec. 44. DESIGNATION OF OFFICIAL PAPERS: OFFICIAL PRINTING. At the first meeting of the Common Council for the purpose of organization, as provided herein, it shall designate not more than two newspapers published in the city to be the official paper or papers of the city. The Common Council may, by a majority vote of all its members, determine to designate but one daily official paper, in which case it shall designate but one daily official paper, and the daily paper receiving the highest number of votes shall be the official paper for one year and until a successor is designated. Such paper, or papers, shall have been published in the City for at least one year and shall have been entered as second class matter with the United States Post Office Department. Such official daily paper, or papers, shall publish such matters and in such form as shall be prescribed by statute or otherwise by general ordinance of the Common Council. In case an official paper shall refuse or fail to act or perform as such, the Common Council may, in its discretion as hereinbefore provided, designate a successor. All bills and accounts for publication in daily official papers and all city printing and advertising shall be a city charge, and shall be paid by the Commissioner of Finance in the regular manner. The Common Council may, by general ordinance, prescribe the form in which the proceedings and reports of the city officers, boards, and departments shall be issued, and the printing and binding of the same shall be performed under contract awarded as in the case of other city contracts.

Sec. 45. APPROPRIATIONS. No appropriations of money shall be made for any purpose except by ordinance specifying each item, the amount thereof, and the department or specific purpose for which the appropriation is made.

Sec. 46. DISPOSITION OF REAL ESTATE: FRANCHISES. No ordinance shall be passed making or authorizing a sale or lease of city real estate or of any franchise belonging to or under the control of the city except by a four-fifths vote of all the members of the Common Council. In case of a proposed sale or lease of real estate or of a franchise, the ordinance must provide for a disposition of the same at public auction to the highest bidder, under proper regulations as to the giving of security, and after the public notice published once each week for three weeks in the official paper or papers. A sale or lease of real estate or a franchise shall not be valid or take effect unless made as aforesaid and subsequently approved by the Board of Estimate and the Mayor. No franchise shall be granted or be operated for a period longer than five years. The Common Council may, however, grant to the owner or lessee of an existing franchise, under which operations are being actually carried on, such additional rights or extensions in the street or streets in which the said franchise exists, upon such terms as the interests of the City may require, with or without an advertisement, as the Common Council may determine; provided, however, that no such grant shall be operative unless approved by the Board of Estimate and also by the Mayor.

PATTERN-5332

Fashion decrees that the smart touch to your Spring or Summer wardrobe shall be crocheted gloves. To add variety, she makes them in linen thread as well as string. This pair will be lovely with your Spring suit and Summer sport clothes. The cuff—lacy in design—is accented by the rows of popcorns that decorate it at intervals. The hand of the glove is done in a loose stitch that is very easy to do. The gloves are reversible, for the right and left one are made to be identical.

In pattern 5332 you will find complete instructions for making the gloves shown in a small, medium and large size; an illustration of them and of the stitches needed; material requirements and color arrangements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman Household Arts Dept., 255 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y.

Hospital Statistics.

Chicago, March 28 (P)—Watch out. It's a one to eighteen bet you'll land up in a hospital some time during the next year, and you'll have to stay there on an average of fourteen days. These deductions were based on a hospital survey covering 6,239 institutions described in the current issue of the American Medical Association. The survey also disclosed that last year somebody went to a hospital every 4.41 seconds.

Giant Clocks

The largest clock in the world is on the tower of a factory in New Jersey. The dial is 50 feet in diameter, the minute hand is 27 feet long, and the hour hand is 19 feet 3 inches long. The minute hand travels 135 feet in an hour's journey round the dial, which works out at about 3 inches in a minute or 270 miles in a year.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

It has been estimated there are 227,000,000 cubic miles of water in the oceans of the world.

Should Respect Needs of Child

Ithaca, N. Y., March 25.—Many parents are so afraid that their children will grow away from them, that they neither respect the child's needs nor allow him the privacy he should have," says Margaret Wylie of the New York state college of home economics.

"If a child is given too much publicity, he may refuse to let his parents know what he does. Also, parents should realize that it is unwise to pry into certain phases of a child's life and that they can not share certain parts of his life as he grows up."

Dr. Wylie advises parents to respect the limitations of young people. Because the parents themselves have certain desires, and because they care so much for their children, they sometimes expect too much of the child, she says. For example, a child may not want and possibly can not profit from a college education, yet his parents may urge him to get it. Dr. Wylie says she believes that young men and women who are fitted for college show an ability to take care of themselves, and have a real interest in books and reading. Fortunately, she adds, with the opportunities for adult education, parents may satisfy their own desires and do not expect to see them fulfilled in their children.

"The child must learn through experience. To help, parents may provide opportunities for him to learn to take care of himself, and should share their experiences with him." She advises parents to take time every day to share fun and happy experiences with the child as well as to remind him of his shortcomings and oversights. If this plan is followed, she says, the child is less likely to shun scolding, and parents are less likely to be forced to scold.

Dr. Wylie points out that young persons take responsibility only when it is given to them; that they need emotional outlets, particularly in the "teen" ages; and that parents should offer the right kind of places where young people may get together and have clean, wholesome fun. She says this is far more effective than for biding them to go to objectionable places.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, March 25.—Last Friday evening, Mrs. Bill Adams and Miss Florence Webster assisted a number of high school girls to organize a discussion group in the library. There has been so much interest and enthusiasm on the part of the older group that the younger generation saw the possibility of having an interesting group of their own in which to exchange opinions and rather socially. Parents later on guidance; this group thinks a little parent guidance would be a good thing. Plans for organization were discussed. It was decided to meet again next Friday evening.

The group of young children who have been playing basketball every Saturday evening in the Athletic Hall will hold the last game of the season on Saturday. Several games will be played with both girls' and boys' teams. As this is the final game it will be made a gala occasion, with refreshments provided. No admission will be charged for children and a nominal price for adults. The children are looking forward to all parents' games. When taken in will be given to Mr. Rice, who has been an generous with his time in coaching the group.

Last Thursday the topic under consideration in the round-table discussion was the first on "Hereditary and Environment." Miss Florence Webster, the leader, found it quite a task to keep the participants to the point, which was an open discussion of the Charming details about this smart caped shoulder dress have been specially thought out for matrons. For instance, the long narrow vest effect and slimming pointed V front. Still more helpful perhaps is the gored skirt with low circular fullness. It creates length and cuts breadth.

Prints in silk, cotton or linen are lovely mediums for this easy to make dress.

Style No. 2954 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 1/4 yards of 39 inch material with 1/4 yard of 35 inch contrasting.

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

Pattern No. 1623-B

House-Frock With Wrap-Around Back

The trend toward pretty, feminine fashions in all departments of a woman's wardrobe has caused the wrap-around house-dress of other years to be revived.

The one pictured puts up a splendid front in direct contrast to the wrapped back which is plain and to the point.

Because pretty frocks are very much the fashion, trimmings of ruffled organdie outline the front panel of the waist, and hang from the pocket tops. The front-frock effect is a departure in apron frocks and introduces novelty in wardrobe that are over-heavy with plain, work-a-day clothes. The lines of the garments are straight, simplifying and wearable. When ironing the open construction is a distinct advantage.

Fabrics for Gossamer of this type should be smooth so they will take the starch well. If a printed material is chosen the best results are gotten from calico prints.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1623-B is designed in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. Corresponding bust measurements 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 14 (34) requires 3 1/4 yards of 36 inch material; 1/4 yard of 36 inch contrast for ruff.

Tomorrow: Semi-casual sports frock with wrap-around.

value and importance of both heredity and environment and how they could be controlled in the best advantage. Members of the group tended to defend specific points on the subject. This, however, interesting it proved to be, was felt to be contrary to the original purpose of the group, so the speakers were gently brought down to earth, and a general discussion of the subject, from the parents.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

Birth flower prints—a new creation for the younger miss.
Liana Merwin

This contradicts the old saying: "There's nothing new under the sun"—for these dainty dresses fashioned of flower prints, carrying out the idea of a birth flower for each month is indeed new and clever.

The small girl above wears a solid color frock with applique representing the flower of her birth month. It is fashioned of Copen blue band-kerchief lawn with navy stitching. Self ruffled collar and cap sleeves give a dainty, frilly look so liked by little girls. The hand appliqued primroses in various shades of rose that trim the front make this a birth flower dress for February—each month having its own flower.

The older girl wears a printed dainty in jade green with lily of the valley birth flower design for the month of May—white organdie is used for the ruffled treatment at shoulders and armhole. A wide cashmere around this model and the skirt has a side flare ruffle which adds grace to the little lady when she walks.

Flowers make such sweet patterns for children's dresses that they have always been used, but there is a little personal touch added when a child can wear a frock any day of the year with her very own birth flower used for its design.

Governor Lehman 57 Years Old Today

Albany, N. Y., March 28 (P)—New York's banker-governor, Herbert H. Lehman, is 57 years of age today.

Congratulatory telegrams and letters poured into the executive chamber in the capitol in large volume as members of his staff and many friends interrupted his labors to convey their personal greetings.

This is Mr. Lehman's second term as governor. Previous to becoming governor in 1933, he served two terms as lieutenant governor under President Roosevelt.

Son And Heir.

Edinburgh, Scotland, March 28 (P)—A son and heir was born to the Earl and Countess of Suffolk and Berkshire last night. The baby is a grandson of the former Daisy Leiter, Chicago heiress. He may inherit two of the oldest English earldoms.

CAPITAL NEWS

HOLLISTER STURGES, Jr.

Albany, March 28 (Special).—With 14 voting their disapproval, the senate yesterday put through the Rockland-Westchester Hudson river crossing authority which will provide for the building a tunnel and causeway across the Hudson between Nyack and Tarrytown. It will cost about $15,000,000. The state must be on a spending spree, because if you look very closely at a map you will notice that where the proposed crossing is to be it is right at the widest part of the Hudson, and that construction a few miles north or south would shorten the distance considerably. Among those opposing it was Senator Frederic Bontecou of Poughkeepsie in Dutchess county. When this is built it will take away some of the Mid-Hudson bridge traffic. Now this is before the assembly chamber where passage is looked for.

24 Hours After

Legislators predict that adjournment will come 24 hours after the reapportionment bills are passed. They further predict that this bill will be passed when the 10 dissenting Democrats are won over to vote favorably. But no one predicts when this is to be. Vincent Dailey, right-hand man to James A. Burke, is pretty busy working this little problem out. Patronage is the strongest weapon to fight the opposition. If this fails it is said that the governor will go on the air. It will be well in this event, to listen to the chief executive and hear first hand what this is all about.

Hot Stuff

The atmosphere of the senate waxed warm Wednesday afternoon as the two political parties wrangled over a deluge of Nassau county bills that are designed to strangle the local political Republican party. In nature they are not unlike the Ulster county highway superintendent bill aimed at James E. Loughran. Suddenly, during the heat of the argument, a fire started in a Republican row of senators. Its source was attributed to a sandwich paper ignited by a stray live ash from a legislator's cigar. Senator Stokes remarked that he hoped it was the Nassau county bills burning up. No such luck, however. A page boy came to the rescue, and just in time, as Senator Bontecou's hair was getting a slight singe while he was tramping out the flame.

One Liquor License

Under present liquor laws it is necessary to have special license for selling beer, wines, and hard liquors. Assemblyman James A. Burke's bill to make a single permit for these three types of alcoholic beverages was passed today in spite of opposition from the governor's office. A companion bill, by Senator Joseph D. Nunan, is in the senate. Whether the governor will sign or not is uncertain. If these measures are endorsed by overwhelming legislative majorities he may be persuaded to sign, but a veto is in the offing.

Headline

Lester W. Herzog, Sr., who is an uncle of Robert Herzog of Kingston, has taken over Albany's relief rolls. A local newspaper streamered this headline last evening: "Herzog New Albany Relief Czar: Drafts Drive Against Chiselers." Administrator Herzog, also president of the Common Council, is doing double duty these days, but can only be paid for one, as local law prohibits a councilman to accept more than his city salary.

Cosmetology

Last week Senator Spencer Feld wanted to put through a bill requiring all hairdressers and beauty parlor operators to pay $25 for an annual license, plus proof of ability that knowledge of the art is known. It did not get by, but a companion measure was passed yesterday by a vote of 78 to 46. It will go before the senate now where another vote will be held.

Congressional Lines

Senator John T. McCall, chairman of the special legislative committee on reapportionment, has asked that he be given to April 5 before submitting the congressional lines that will make new congress districts in the state. The senate approved this request. It will probably take an additional week to approve the measures once they are handed in.

"A Super Legislature"

Minority Leader George R. Fearon termed the senate a "super legislature that dumps bills in without any hearing and passes a bunch of recommended bills that thick," he explained, his palms four inches apart. He was attacking the meek acceptance by the senators of legislation sent up from the law revision commission. Fearon charged that hardly a lawyer in the state, not having a chance to look them over before they were enacted could understand what new laws being made were.

Another member of the newspaper association is sick. George M. Janvin, 35 years an Albany correspondent and at present secretary and treasurer of the press association, is convalescing at his home since he was taken ill last week. Mr. Janvin is a pioneer among the Albany reporters, and it has been largely through his efforts that the association today has been given many of its privileges.

Conferences

The night club days of the session are beginning, always a sure sign of an ending. First few weeks of the legislature one could set his watch by the promptness with which each daily session was begun at 11 a. m. But morning conferences have upset this practice, and the noon hour is nearer the time when the official day begins. In a little while the hours of law-making will be running into the night. The majority leaders have a reputation for getting things done, and if they have to burn the midnight oil they will do so.

Local Boy Makes Good

South Amboy, N. J.—Twenty-three years ago an energetic youngster named Harold G. Hoffman was suspended from South Amboy High School because he ducked out one day to telephone a newspaper for which he acted as correspondent.

The incident was recalled when the board of education decided to rename the school the "Harold G. Hoffman High School."

He's governor of New Jersey now.

Elkins, W. Va.—Aura Jean Little, 14, planned to do some cheer-leading at the basketball tournament in Parkersburg. While sewing on her cheer leader's costume she swallowed a needle.

Now Aura Jean's in a hospital and doctors won't let her even whisper.

Remember the Name

New York—Dame Sybil Thorndike, English actress, is sailing homeward, carrying the manuscript of a play by Turney.

"I went clean mad when I read his play," said she. "Remember the name, for he is going to amount to something."

Turney, who has never had a play produced, is working for the PWA at $25 a week.

Something Omitted?

Chicago—Egghy Lewis, suing for divorce, alleged that husband George failed to tell her all there was to know about the future although he's a crystal gazer. Among the things which she charged he neglected to reveal were:

That he would return to his former wife, Joan, four days after the second wedding.

That he would give her only $5 during their wedded life, leaving her with a hotel bill.

Painted a "Lily"

Sanbury, Pa.—An absent-minded painter of nearby Danville is reported determined to hang a red flag on the next house he contracts to paint.

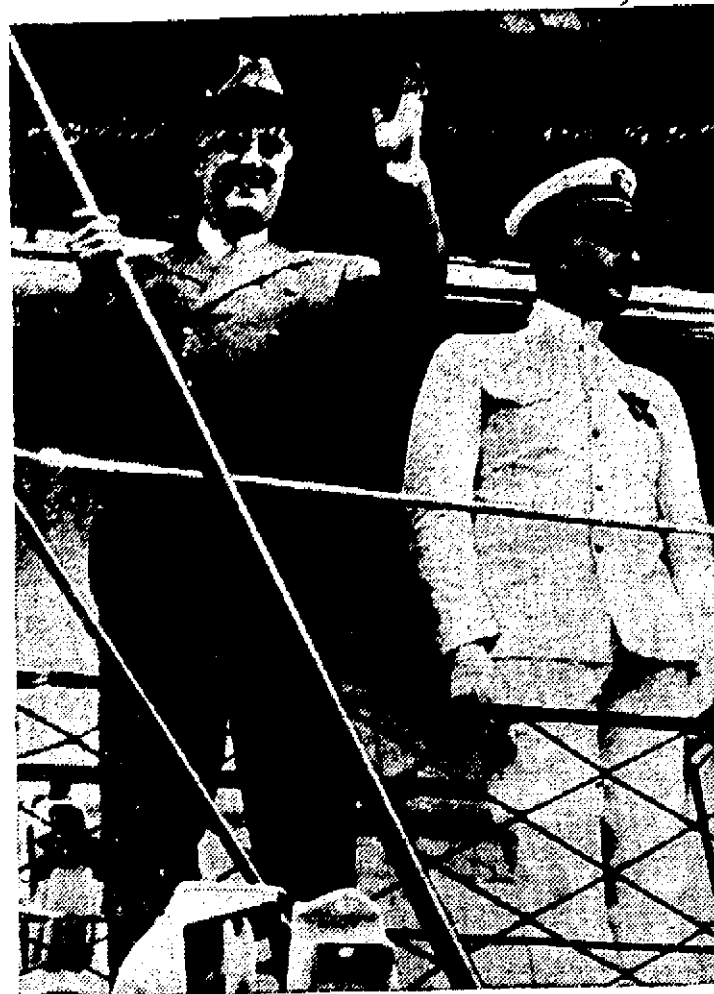

The painter, whose name has been kept secret, painted a vacant house for a landlord, then discovered after the job was done that he had painted the wrong house. He tried to collect from the owner of the newly painted house and was threatened with arrest for trespassing.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Because he thinks his type of show has yielded to the inexorable hammer of time and changing tastes, Fred Stone is happy to be in Hollywood again.

When Stark Young's novel of the old south, "So Red The Rose," reaches the screen, Stone will be in the cast with Pauline Lord, and after that he is under contract for two more pictures.

"That'll keep me busy about seven months, I think," he says, "and there's nothing I'd like better than to stay out here, work in pictures that long, and spend the rest of the year duck-shooting."

Almost Retired

Last year the 61-year-old stage veteran, after fifty-odd years behind the footlights largely devoted to musical comedy, surveyed prospects in "show business" and was all but persuaded to retire to Florida. Broadway, he thought, had become too much a combination of the Bowery, Coney Island and Minsky's burlesque; the "road" as he had known it in the old days of Montgomery and Stone was no more, and musicals were not running three and four years as they used to do.

"But somehow I didn't want to be completely inactive," he says, "and so I thought about going into the legit. I'm calling it draw-ma now," he explains genially, "since my youngest daughter, Carol, took it up—in the old days it was the 'drammy' or the 'legit'."

He went into a dramatization of Sinclair Lewis's "The Jayhawker," and while it ran only six weeks it brought him his chance to come to Hollywood—as a dramatic actor.

Back in 1918 Stone made six silent pictures, the last of which was "The Goat."

Family Together Soon

"And it was 'The Goat,' too," he declares, "one of the worst pictures ever. If they had had talking pictures, I might have done better. But I'm glad to be here now. Feel kind of guilty, out here with the family back in New York. Paula—she's the dancer—is with me, though, and Dorothy is coming out in a show soon, and then Mrs. Stone and Carol will be along. They're living in a pent-house now, where they get the snow even before it hits New York!"

Stone and Will Rogers have been friends for 25 years. When Stone cracked up in his airplane in 1923 on the eve of opening a new show, Rogers flew east to take his place. In the hospital eight months, Stone came out almost as good as new.

"I can still dance some, not as well as I used to," he says. "But out here I get in 15 holes of golf every day, and feel fine."

Stone can't persuade Rogers to play golf, but Will is always taking Fred out to "look at ranches." So Stone, waiting to meet a microphone, has plenty to do.

WEST PARK

West Park, March 28—The first of a series of six cooking classes was held Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Ascension Church parish house. Miss Elizabeth Plank of Kingston lectured as she demonstrated. The lesson Monday was "Lenten Dishes." The next lesson will be held on April 1 at 7:30 p. m. in the parish house. Miss Plank will discuss different ways of serving eggs. The women and girls of West Park and surrounding communities are cordially invited to attend. Port Eben, Ulster Park, Esopus and West Park were represented with an attendance of 38.

The second social evening under the auspices of the parish activities committee was held in the Ascension Church parish house on March 25 at 8 p. m. Motion pictures of "The Land of the Bible" were shown by the Rev. Chalmers Holbrook of Millbrook, who took these pictures on his trip to the sacred places of the Holy Land, Egypt and Syria. Refreshments were served by the Ladies' Auxiliary with the assistance of Mrs. Chalmers Holbrook, Mrs. Minna Walker, Miss Kathleen Teeling and Ted Iwert. The object of these socials is to bring the people of the nearby communities together so that they may know each other and use the community house. Over 100 were present on Tuesday evening.

The Turkish Towel

The word Turkish has been applied to different things, including people and speech, since 1644. Turkish towels were first exhibited at the International exhibition of 1902, held at South Kensington, and appeared from the 1st of May until the 15th of November. At this exhibition there were 6,000 foreign exhibitors. They figured in the world record of the catalog of the exhibition, No. 2,548. Twenty years later, the Turkish towel was described by Confield and Howard in their "Dictionary of Knowledge" (p. 294) as: "A towel with a long nap, cut on short."—Literary Digest.

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "Enchanted April." Ann Harding, whose quiet beauty and charm have won her glory on the screen, turns her attention to a husband's waning love in this picture and diagnoses the reasons for such an ailment as well as a means of cure. Dramatic, splendidly acted, this story of a wife's devotion to a husband who owes most of his success to his wife's belief in his career and who forgets her part in it when the goal is achieved, is enjoyably played by both Miss Harding and Frank Morgan. The comedy moments are sparse during the run of the play, but what the show lacks in humor is rectified by the inspiration of seeing flawless acting being done by the principals. Others in the cast are Reginald Owen, Katherine Alexander and Jane Baxter.

Orpheum: "Gambling" and "Two Heads on a Pillow." George M. Cohan made such a success of the first play on the stage that he has brought it to the screen, a lively story of a father who tracks down the murderer of his daughter. Mr. Cohan is the whole show in this picture. "Two Heads on a Pillow" is sheer romantic comedy of the ordinary variety with Neil Hamilton and Miriam Hopkins featured.

Kingston: "Babbitt" and "Lightning Strikes Twice." Sinclair Lewis' famous novel that sized up the average American business man as a combination of bluster, smart aleck, and glibness, visits the screen with Guy Kibbe in the title role of a man who personifies the American business man as a collective whole. Mr. Babbitt is in real estate, and some of his dealings are a bit shady, but he works under the theory that a good deal is all right as long as he has the best of it. He gets tangled up with another woman during the course of events, and his wife finally brings him to his senses. Mr. Kibbe is perfectly cast as Mr. Babbitt and Aline MacMahon is good as his wife and adviser. Claire Dodd is also in the cast. "Lightning Strikes Twice" is a mystery play of a different color as it is built around a murder that never occurred. Ben Lyon, Skeets Gallagher, Thelma Todd and Chick Chandler rush about and stir up no end of excitement in this one that seems rather flat at the finish.

Tomorrow:
Orpheum: Same.
Kingston: "Whirlpool" and "Brand of Hate." Jack Holt and Jean Arthur are swept through a torrent of human emotions during the run of the first feature, an ancient tale that was released long ago. Mr. Holt plays his usual be-man role and there is great excitement at all times. "Brand of Hate" is the second feature, an average western yarn with Robert Steele in the starring role.

Kingston: "The Great Hotel Murder." Great and gusty humor is to be found in this murder tale, with the rowdy Victor McLaglin and Edmund Lowe co-starring in the main roles. The plot is laid in a hotel where a famous writer of murder stories is staying, and while there a murder takes place. He solves the baffling order of events despite the fact that the dumb house detective does all he can to complicate matters. Filled with laughs, some tense moments, and above average acting, this play is good for an evening mixed with thrills and humor. Mary Carlisle, Rosemary Ames, and C. Henry Gordon are in the cast. Eugene Forde directed.

A lot of business men would like it better if all the depressions were on the golf course.

Social Leaders Back State Charity Lottery

Albany, N. Y., March 28 (AP)—Legalized lotteries to get New York state charities "out of the red" today have the enthusiastic endorsement of socially prominent men and women and charitable organizations.

The social leaders, headed by Mrs. Oliver Harriman and Mrs. August Heckscher of the Heckscher Foundation for Aid to Children, pleaded with members of the state Senate yesterday to pass the Crawford bill setting up a system of charity lotteries.

Mrs. Harriman, chairman of the national conference in legalizing lotteries, told members of the Senate Judiciary committee she didn't know "any single organized charity that isn't in the red."

"I have been working for many years for charity," she said, "and especially for little children in need and distress. I know of my own observation that neither the Salvation Army nor any other of the worthy organizations at work in that field can raise the money they need to carry on their programs for the poor."

"The money must come from some place or there will be a collapse. Nothing further can be raised by taxation and all I am pleading for after long investigation is that my country keep at home the millions of dollars now going into foreign lands through lotteries and sweepstakes to support their poor."

Senator James J. Crawford, sponsor of the lottery bills, believes they will drive out the foreign lotteries and keep within the state $600,000,000 a year he estimates New Yorkers spend for tickets.

Frederick W. Benduhn, director of the national conference on legalizing lotteries, told the legislators the "question is not whether we are to have lotteries because we already have them."

He claimed that a billion dollars

Rum Row Returns.

Washington, March 28 (AP)—Rum row is back. A possibility of reaping profits up to 700 per cent, officials said today, has brought approximately a score of vessels back to the shores of the Atlantic ocean and Gulf of Mexico, laden with alcohol, chiefly from Holland and Belgium. This explanation was given by Stephen B. Gibbons, assistant secretary of the treasury.

The alcohol tax unit has been raising stills at the rate of about 1,200 a month. So the bootleggers saw that it would be cheaper if they could bring the alcohol in from abroad.

Science Makes Mustard Gas Deadlier

While the war gods have been dosing fitfully the last 17 years, science has made discoveries that may affect the "next war." Howard W. Blakeslee, Associated Press science editor, discusses them in a series of three daily articles, of which this is the first.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE.
(Associated Press Science Editor.)

New York (AP).—The real, new scientific weapons for chemical warfare have remained hidden from the public, behind a smoke-screen of reports on dreadful new gases, bacteria and superexplosives.

These "new" substances are just a drop in the real ocean of chemical science. The size of that ocean is shown by the historical, though seldom reported fact, that 3,000 chemicals were tested for gas warfare before and during the World War.

Of these only 30 were selected for trial and finally those used for fighting narrowed to about a dozen. Sixteen years since had added new chemical combinations, a few dozen at most, but the real progress has continued with the World War, particularly one of them, mustard gas.

No New Gases.

Inquiry among U. S. war department officers and leading American chemists substantiates this. The war department's chemical warfare bulletin No. 4 quotes Harrison B. Howe, editor of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry:

"I think it is fair to say that to the best of our knowledge and belief, research since the war has failed to disclose any gases for field use that are any more advantageous than those known and used during the World War."

On one side is the fact that mustard's effectiveness has been improved about 20 per cent; that under the right conditions the new gas

Will the soldiers of the "next war" wade through billows of deadly mustard gas? Science says probably they will. A few "refinements" have been made in mustard gas but science has developed nothing so devastating as this death-dealing cloud that clings to the earth for days.

Can Not Be Detected.

On the other side is the record that attempts to nullify the effectiveness of this gas have failed. Describing this, Dr. Ulrich Mueller Kiel, recognized as the foremost German gas authority, says in Die Chemische Waffe:

"Due to the great clinging nature of mustard gas, its so-called 'persistence' on the terrain, it is naturally very important to possess a detector for that substance."

"Efforts to find such a detector have not been lacking, and in 1923 the Geneva commission of the Red Cross offered a prize of 10,000 gold francs for the discovery of a detector. To win the prize the detector had to be above all extraordinarily sensitive (it had to react to concentrations of 70 milligrams per cubic meter) and it had to react to mustard gas alone."

"All of the proposals submitted, however, proved to be useless and the prize could not be awarded. In this respect also mustard gas proved to be the most resistant of all substances yet known."

"Dew of Death" Abandoned.

The lack of this insidious approach is one reason why the American "dew of death," Lewisite, has been dropped from the list of effective war gases. Lewisite was not used in the war. But it was said 12 bombs of it dropped from planes could destroy a city the size of Berlin.

But the "dew of death" causes an itching sensation on the skin the moment it touches. It also advertises its presence by a strong odor.

A Superexplosive.

The new gases so frequently reported are as deadly as claimed, but they won't work except under special circumstances which seldom or never obtain in warfare.

One superexplosive, credited to Germany, is a liquid nitrogen chloride. It is said that a few drops of it on a pavement would destroy a whole body of troops marching over, and the surrounding buildings too.

American chemists say this chemical is not new. Dried in thin flakes it explodes at the touch of a feather, they state. But it lacks energy. It was one of the explosives tried and rejected in the World War.

Dr. Samuel Stern Tells Rotary Club of Prisons

An enthusiastic picture of New York state penal institutions and their advancement during the past quarter century was described before the members of Rotary in the Governor Clinton Hotel Wednesday at noon by Dr. Samuel Stern of this city, a man who has been linked with the prison system of the state for over 25 years. Dr. Stern has seen and been a part of the progressive movement in modernizing state institutions of this nature, and his short and interesting discussion gave his listeners a valuable picture of prison routine today as compared with the methods of handling prisoners two decades ago.

The antiquated methods of punishment have been replaced by humane treatment and understanding, stated the speaker, and the old order of years gone by where men were strung up by their toes, were flogged and beaten, has been replaced by the more civilized procedure of taking the regular privileges away from a man who has done some wrong. Men in prisons today who cannot obey the rules are ridiculed by their fellow prisoners, continued Dr. Stern, and they learn to live up to the prison code of ethics through a sense of shame rather than having their failure beaten into them through some drastic form of punishment.

New York state, according to the speaker, has been a leader throughout the world in bringing reform into the prison system. Its institutions are models for other states to follow, and other nations are constantly sending delegations to the prisons of this state so that they may learn and take advantage of the advancement that can be found in the prisons, reformatories and other penal institutions throughout the state.

The speaker discussed several of the various institutions in New York state and his discussion included Elmira Reformatory, Boreas, Auburn Prison and the Medium Security Prison at Wallkill. It was Dr. Stern's contention that the Wallkill Prison, despite the criticism which has been leveled against it, was by far the most advanced and scientific addition to modern prison advancement that one could find anywhere.

Three Suspensions In This Vicinity

Three residents of this vicinity had their driving licenses suspended by the commissioner of motor vehicles during the two weeks ended March 16. The total number of drivers affected throughout the state was 406.

The local suspensions: Louis Feldman of Hunter, Samuel Singer of 54 Ann street, Kingston.

Edward Forbes of Pine Hill, Edward. All of the suspensions were for licenses irregularly issued.

In New York city there were 24 revocations and 192 suspensions and 42 revocations and 112 suspensions in other parts of the state.

In an effort to make even more effective use of planes in fighting forest fires, a number of aircraft in the forest service of the Ontario Government will be equipped with two-way, short wave, voice radio sets this year.

K. H. S. Loses Debate With Poughkeepsie

Tuesday afternoon Kingston High School's varsity debating team traveled to Poughkeepsie where they were defeated by a Poughkeepsie team, on the basis of a 3-0 decision. Before the debate, the debating clubs of Poughkeepsie, with their guests, enjoyed a luncheon in the high school cafeteria. Following this the debate was held at two o'clock in the auditorium before the upper class assembly.

The topic of the debate was "Resolved: That federal aid be granted to education by means of money grants to the various states for public elementary and secondary education." The discussion is based on the need today for financial aid to education, and the advisability of the national government appropriating money to be granted to the states for educational purposes, such as buildings and equipment, teachers' salaries, and the like.

Kingston's negative, who met Poughkeepsie, consists of Miss Beverly Herman, Dallas Reynolds, Alvin Thorpe and Robert Brown, captain. The team which they met was composed of Miss Doris Berlin, Jack Dodson, captain, William Jordy and Miss Adele Deragon.

This afternoon, Kingston's affirmative team on the same topic is expected to meet Poughkeepsie's negative team at Kingston in a practice debate. Kingston will be represented by Frederic Holcomb, captain, Miss Cecile Thompson, Frank Schilling and Don McCausland. This same team will meet Newburgh Free Academy at Kingston on Friday afternoon. Judges for this afternoon's debate will be selected from members of the faculty. Debates scheduled for the near future include one with Ossining, who will send their negative here, and one with Peekskill, whose affirmative will debate Kingston's negative at Peekskill.

Miss Ethel M. Hull, of the English department is coaching the varsity teams on this subject.

It doesn't seem to be so much a question whether the NRA will be extended for two years as how it will look if it is extended.

Clean Out Kidney Poisons

Wash Out Your 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

If kidneys don't pass 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters may become clogged with poisonous waste and the danger of acid poisoning is greatly increased. Bladder passages are difficult, which often smart and burn like scalding water and cause discomfort.

This acid condition, brought about by poor kidney functions is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Most people watch their bowels which contain only 27 feet of intestines but neglect the kidneys which contain 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters. If these tubes or filters become clogged with poisons, it may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't run any risk. Make sure your kidneys empty 3 pints a day.

Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Moose Will Hold a Regional Meeting

Various Moose Lodges in This Territory Will Be Represented Sunday Afternoon at Meeting in Mechanics' Hall—Albert H. Ladner, Jr., One of Speakers.

Kingston Lodge of Moose, No. 970, is busy planning to be the hosts of the other Moose lodges in this territory at a regional meeting to be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Mechanics' Hall on Henry street. Among the lodges to be represented are those in Newburgh, Middletown, Hudson, Poughkeepsie, Warwick, Albany and Catskill.

One of the speakers at the meeting will be Albert H. Ladner, Jr., past supreme dictator of the order.

ALBERT H. LADNER, JR.

That versatility of talent and mediocrity of achievement go hand in hand has been disproved in many cases, notably that of Albert H. Ladner, Jr., past supreme dictator of the Loyal Order of Moose, a member of the executive committee and a Mooseheart governor. He has a high place in his many fields of activity—law, finance, public service—and is a noted clubman, a patron of arts, and an army officer.

Albert H. Ladner, Jr. was born in Philadelphia, October 21, 1882, and attended the public schools of that city. He entered Temple College for the study of law, was admitted to the bar in 1906 and at once established the firm of Ladner and Ladner. In a comparatively short time he had acquired an excellent practice and was interested in many other activities. In 1919 he became a member of the County Board of Law Examiners, retaining his place for many years. That year also he joined the Loyal Order of Moose, through Philadelphia Lodge No. 54, the largest fraternal unit in the world. He was past dictator of his lodge in 1913, and vice dictator since 1925. He has held many high offices in the supreme lodge and is now a Mooseheart governor, past supreme dictator, and a member of the supreme executive committee.

Mr. Ladner holds a record for similar achievements in Masonic circles and in the world of finance. He served his state in the capacity of registration commissioner of Philadelphia from 1915-1918, was re-appointed in 1927, and served until 1930, and was appointed collector of internal revenue for the First Pennsylvania District. During the war he served in the Veteran Corps of the Second Infantry and held a captaincy in the National Guard of Pennsylvania. He is a member of the Sons of Veterans.

He is associated with the Philadelphia Zoological Society, the German Society, the Pen and Pencil Club, and the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. His clubs are many and varied: the Strollers, Optimists, Whitemash Country Club, Lu Lu Temple Country Club, Overbrook Country Club, Philadelphia Turngemeinde, Chelsea Yacht Club, Lamb-skin Club, Trem Country Club, Bankers and Manufacturers Club, and the Philadelphia Rifle Club. Added to these are his other fraternities—the Elks and Eagles.

Mr. Ladner is a member of the Law Academy, Philadelphia Bar Association, Pennsylvania Bar Association, and American Bar Association.

WALKILL, MAX SUED FOR USING INCUBATOR

New York, March 27 (Special)—Suit was filed today in United States District Court here against J. M. Chase of Walkill, in business there as the Vester Poultry Farm, for alleged violation of patent rights involving the use of an incubator for the hatching of eggs.

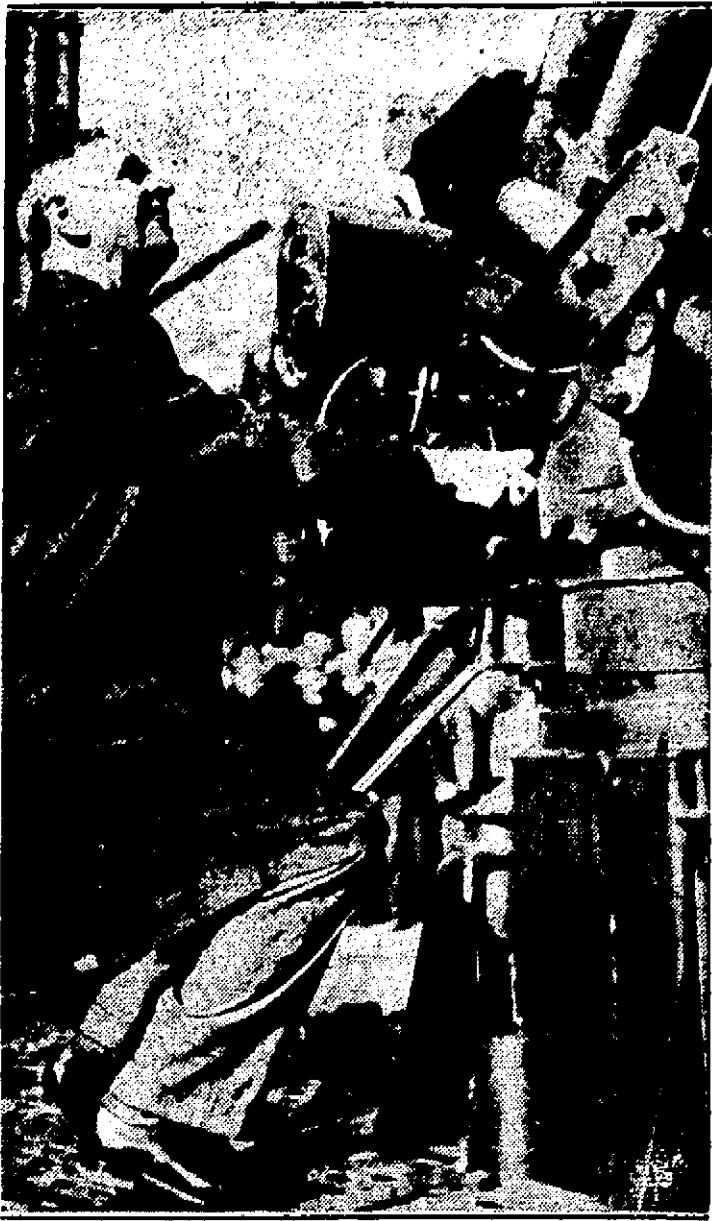

The plaintiff, Samuel B. Smith of Cleveland, claims the patent right to an incubator manufactured in Ohio which utilizes staged incubation and the passage of a continuous stream of warmed air blown over the eggs by a fan to cause incubation. He charges Chase with employing an incubator which infringes. He asks the court to issue an injunction restraining Chase from using the incubators and for an accounting of profits derived from such alleged illegal use. Similar actions have been begun against poultrymen in Dutchess and Columbia counties.

Reno Awaits Arrival of Princess Barbara

Reno, Nevada, March 28 (AP).—In contrast to its usual unconcern about the comings and goings of an ever-changing divorce population, Reno is awaiting the expected arrival of Princess Barbara Hutton Midland with no little amount of curiosity.

Permanent residents did not lift an eyebrow when the former Josephine (Fifi) Widener of Philadelphia, later called "Reno's wealthiest divorcee," slipped quietly into a hotel late one night in 1932 to establish residence for her divorce from Milton W. Holden, followed by her third marriage, to Axel C. P. Wickfeld.

The Princess Nadia Dorozynski, daughter of the late Prince Michael of Portugal, created no stir at all in Reno—for her secret divorce complaint had been filed and the case tried almost before anyone even knew she had been living quietly in an unpretentious apartment here for many weeks.

In 1933 Elliott Roosevelt, and in 1934 Anna Roosevelt Hall, second son and only daughter, of President Roosevelt, made their way about Reno streets recognized by only a few of the passersby. Their divorce trials, conducted privately at Minden, Nevada, caused little excitement.

However, the short-lived romance of Princess Barbara, one of the world's wealthiest young women, and her polo-playing husband, Prince Alexis, has stirred the imaginations of even calloused "old timers" who have lived here for years with the idea that the price of newly mined silver or of beef "on the hoof" means much more to their economic well-being than the bulk of all the nation's "divorce trade."

People wonder whether the princess will spend a sizeable portion of her $40,000,000 fortune here, where she will make her home during her six-week stay, and speculate as to which of the city's 150 lawyers will get the case.

It is generally agreed that if the old rule—ability to pay—applies, Princess Barbara's attorney fee will be a high one, but probably not nearly so high as the fees some lawyers received in cases years ago when the three-months residence law was operative.

A few fees in excess of $50,000 and several of $25,000 or more are reported to have been paid. That in the days when competition was not so keen and Reno's divorce rush was less of a business-like stampede. Fees of $1,000 or more are rare enough in these days of ten-minute private trials.

BOICEVILLE CAMP DRAMATIC CLUB PRESENTED SHOW

On March 26, the Dramatic Club of Camp 2, Boiceville, presented a seven-act variety show, composed of dancing, singing, etc. The music was supplied by the Catekill Mountain Ramblers. The members of the orchestra, Hartman Dutcher, Percy Rosa, William Harbig, Alfred Harbig, Forrest Dutcher, Carl Hoyt, and enrollee Dow Palmer, gladly consented to play free of charge for the boys.

The variety show consisted of the following numbers: "Love Scene," with Andrew McDermott and Shorty Neuwir; "Kentucky Kernels," a skit with Lynn Covert, Robert McCann, Anthony Bonomo and Mr. Donnelly; "Ballet Dance," with five beautiful chorus girls, Oliver Haines, Shorty Neuwir, Tony Bonomo, Mandy Collins and Paul Iryk; Waldo Pach and Bill McComas led the routine; "Gypsy Moth Trio," with Tommy Provanzo, Bill McComas and Dow Palmer; "The Great Magicians," a skit starring M. of C. Rosensweig and Jess Albright; "Two Drunks," a skit starring Bill McComas and David Ashcroft; several selections were rendered by the orchestra.

After the show refreshments were served. The members of the company are grateful to Dow Palmer and his orchestra for sacrificing their time to help out the boys.

The show was presented under the direction of Master of Ceremonies Alexander Rosensweig.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with a coated tongue, foul breath or a dull, dizzy headache or if your meals sour and turn into gas and acids, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

Tomorrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of lime-salt phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestine all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal.

Those subject to risk headaches, backaches, bilious attacks, constipation or any form of stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of lime-salt phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning inside bath.

Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of lime-salt phosphate set up the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Lime-salt phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.

Clean Bill of Health For His Activities Given to Baruch Today

Washington, March 28 (AP).—Spurred on by Senator Byrnes (D-S.C.) some members of the senate munitions committee today gave Bernard M. Baruch a clean bill of health for his activities as chairman of the war industries board under President Wilson.

Appearing as a surprise witness, Byrnes declared he believed "unfair" any insinuations against Baruch's record which may have grown out of the committee's investigations.

"When I saw the criticism about his war time financial transactions," Byrnes said, "I felt it necessary to state the facts of the case."

He added he was chairman of a special deficiency committee of the house appropriations committee during the war and knew in detail all the transactions concerning Baruch. He related that Baruch had financed a mission going to Europe to learn if any American goods were being diverted by the allies from military purposes to commercial purposes.

"Baruch paid expenses of the commission out of his own pocket, amounting to $85,000," Byrnes said, adding that the financier declined reimbursement from the treasury. Although the act saved the United States "many millions of dollars."

In turn, the senator continued, when the war ended and many war time functions, including the war industries board, were terminated, Baruch saw that many young girls who had come to Washington would be thrown out on the streets.

"He employed a matron to visit all the girls in his department and encourage them to go home rather than to walk the streets in Washington trying to find work."

"As inducement he paid their fare home, together with pullman and expenses. Most of them went home."

Immediately members of the committee joined in assuring that no reflection against Baruch's record was intended.

Oklahoma Girl Held For Shooting Chinese

Tahlequah, Okla., March 28 (AP).—Miss Lola Thompson, 19-year-old sophomore at the Northeastern Oklahoma Teachers' College, was held in the county jail today, while Daniel Shaw, a Chinese student, was given a "50-50" chance to recover from bullet wounds, allegedly inflicted by the co-ed.

The girl, with a pistol in hand, chased Shaw for 200 yards across the campus late yesterday, shouting and shooting. Jack Horn, another student, told officers.

"I know he's one of them and I'm going to kill him," Horn quoted the girl as shouting.

The 27-year-old Shaw, who had changed his name from George Hing Siew, slumped down in front of the administration building, suffering from two bullet wounds.

No charges have been filed against the girl, but Sanford Martin, Cherokee county attorney, said he had been investigating a series of threatening notes the girl had received since February 27.

She found the last of the series of notes in her locker in the girls' dressing room yesterday, Martin said.

"You are going to be killed today," the note read. "You can have the whole U. S. police department with you but we will kill you if we know the next minute we would die."

It was signed, "N. E. S. T. C. Gang."

The notes, carrying threats against the girl's life, demanded $100 at first and later $3,000. Such demands put officials at a loss for an explanation, since the girl lives with her widowed mother, who is in moderate circumstances.

Martin said a roommate of Shaw's had left college after being questioned about the notes.

Shaw's passport showed he had entered the United States through Seattle in 1931. Upon enrolling at the college here February 14, he gave his previous residence as Lexington, Ky., where he attended the State University. Before that, he stated, he had been a student at Singapore and a missionary worker at Hong Kong.

Severe Dust Storm In Southwest Caused Much Damage to Land

Amarillo, Texas, March 28 (AP).—Red-eyed Texans talked today about the worst dust storm of the season in the southwest.

Rising from the dry mid-west the clouds of swirling dust swept in from the north and spread out like a huge cloud of yellowish red smoke over practically the entire district.

The dust did not hit the southern part of Texas until last night, almost 24 hours after the curling clouds of earth sifted across the northwest Texas border.

A severe wind and rain storm uprooted trees and greatly damaged many residences and business houses in Pearsall near San Antonio.

At Laredo, where the temperature reached 98 in the afternoon, a hail storm struck.

A new storm stirred up vast clouds of dust yesterday in southwestern Kansas and southeastern Colorado, sections almost continuously under a silt and sand bombardment for the past two weeks.

A bad "black blizzard" also swept the Dakotas and the Regina district of Saskatchewan highways were blocked and motorists marooned in some sections of the Canadian province.

Earlier Troubles.

Kansas City, March 28 (AP).—Dist-plagued residents of the southwest may well consider the plight of the pioneers of the plains.

No storms such as the section has seen recently, perhaps, but they faced blizzards "where hundreds lost their lives by suffocation," Indian raids, grasshopper invasions "where the insects were piled two to four inches deep everywhere," disastrous prairie fires and the menace of mad wolves.

R. M. Wright, Dodge City, Kan., has described the terror of those early day storms.

"I have witnessed a change in temperature from 74 degrees above zero to 20 degrees below in 24 hours, and during this time the wind was blowing a gale, apparently from the four points of the compass. The air was so full of the fine, blistering snow and sand that one could not see 10 feet in advance."

"Historical blizzards of 1853, 1856, 1873, and 1888 were general, embracing a very large area of the country. Hundreds have lost their lives by suffocation in blizzards when the temperature was not zero."

After coming through the great drought of 1880 and two severe blizzards, the settlers found the Indians a menace until the peace treaty of Medicine Lodge in 1867. Before then, scores of settlers were killed by roving bands of redskins.

But another plague soon appeared. In the summer of 1874 great clouds of grasshoppers came flying out of the northwest mountain region. Historians record that the clouds of insects were "two or three miles in length and scores of miles long." All growing crops disappeared. Lack of vegetables brought much suffering.

Prairie fires, started by Indians or some wandering hunter and whipped by winds, spread great black scars over the countryside.

As for blizzards, Rose Kingsley, who passed over the Kansas Pacific Railroad in 1871, later said in a book: "So many telegraph poles were rubbed down by the buffaloes along the Kansas Pacific road that orders were given to stick the new ones full of large and sharp nails. This, however, only made matters worse, as the buffaloes found the nails most charming combs for their shaggy coats, and the poles were knocked down more frequently than ever."

$2,030.14 Total For S. A. Campaign

When reports at the daily meeting at the Salvation Army hall this noon were totaled up it was found that to date but a little over one-quarter of the $8,000 asked for to support the work of the army this year had been subscribed.

As was the case Wednesday reports from the women's division showed that they had been busy, 19 out of the 13 captains working under Mrs. H. B. Walker reporting receipts for a total of $176.42.

Two of Captain Stanbrough's workers made reports, the total for the men's division being $16.75. In addition the executive committee turned in $70, making a total for the day of $263.17 and a total for the campaign to date of $2,030.14.

Captains and workers will again meet to report and for luncheon at the hall at 12:15 Friday.

Scientists have succeeded in inventing puncture proof tires but nobody has yet succeeded in devising a puncture proof budget.

Among the fast dealers they run at top speed. And then Puffy and Panchito catch up with the speed. "You'll soon have a puncture," says Panchito. "I hope." Then Puffy he shows out his latest time.

Three Youths Are Sentenced to Elmira

fore and had served a sentence of from 1 to 2 years at Clinton State Prison for forgery of a check on Carl Fisher, for whom he had worked.

This time, he said, he returned home and had no work. He caught cold and needed medicine and groceries so he made out a check on his cousin and cashed it for $5, although the check was for $10. He said he had intended to sell a lot to N. D. J. Murphy and make good the check but he was arrested too quickly before he had sold the lot. He admitted that he had been paroled twice from prison. Judge Russell sentenced him to 10 years at Clinton State Prison.

Placed on Parole.

Samuel Cassalini, 22, said he was born at Huntington, N. Y., and this was his first conviction. He pleaded guilty to burglary, third degree, and was sentenced to Dannemora prison for a term of from 1 1/2 to 4 years at hard labor. Judge Russell suspended sentence and directed that a report at least once a month be made to the probation officer for a year.

Walter Lesovich, 23, a member of the Regular Army, was sentenced on his plea of guilty to burglary, third degree. He had a previous conviction for petit larceny. He said he had been on furlough and had committed the burglary. A sentence of from 2 to 5 years at Clinton State Prison was imposed and suspended. The defendant was placed on parole to report once a month to the probation officer.

Application was made for a medical examination of William Schlegelworth, charged with burglary, third degree. Granted.

All other sealed and open indictments were transferred by order to county court for disposition.

Barbers Have Chance To Talk at Hearing

There has been an age-long joke about how talkative barbers are when they have a customer in the chair, but this evening the barbers will be given an opportunity to talk and talk freely on what they think of the proposed ordinance regulating barbershops and barbers that they themselves have asked the Common Council to adopt. The laws and rules committee of the council is holding the public hearing tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the city hall. Since over 50 barbers signed the petition asking the adoption of the ordinance it was expected there would be no opposition to it, but lately a number of the barbers have changed their minds and are now opposed to the ordinance.

In addition to the barbers of the city it is expected that hairdressers of the city will be present at the hearing. Miss Anne Ruckert, president of the Ulster County Hairdressers Association, is planning to attend, and it is likely that a number of hairdressers not affiliated with the association will also attend.

Said Her Husband Had Flung Her Downstairs

At Family Home on Hone Street and She Called for the Police and Placed Her Husband Under Arrest.—Other Cases in Police Court.

"Yes Judge," said Mrs. Anna B. McGill of 6 Hone street, "he threw me downstairs and then he choked me. You can see he choked me, I ain't got my right voice yet."

Mrs. McGill was referring to the acts she alleged her husband had staged this morning which had led to a call for the police and the wife placing the husband, Mack McGill, under arrest on a charge of assault in the third degree.

Mrs. McGill and her husband are negroes. She told a vivid story of the occurrence this morning to the judge. She said that after her husband threw her down the stairs he had come down after her and started choking her. She said she hollered "Murder" so loud that the whole neighborhood had heard her.

McGill on the other hand said he did not choke his wife and that he did not throw her down the stairs. He said she fell down.

Judge Culliton after hearing both sides sentenced the husband to 10 days in jail.

McClintock Intoxicated

William McClintock, a negro of 155 Abel street, was arrested on a charge of public intoxication on Ravine street early this morning. Sergeant Phinney in police court informed Judge Culliton that the negro had gone to the Raichle store and had tapped on the window at 1 o'clock. The negro tapped so hard that the window was broken.

Judge Culliton sentenced the negro to 10 days in jail.

DeForest Shaver of 55 Van Buren street, arrested on a warrant sworn out by Sam Stone charging Shaver with petit larceny, had his case adjourned for one week to afford him an opportunity to make good for a bad check he had given Stone.

Anthony Neuvale of Cedar street, was fined $5 in police court Wednesday morning when found guilty of disorderly conduct in using indecent language on that street. Wednesday afternoon he was again arrested on a similar charge, and today the hearing was adjourned to Saturday morning and bail fixed at $25.

Sense of Humor.

Washington, March 28 (AP).—If you ask Secretary Lick what he considers his major achievement under the new deal, he says: "Keeping a sense of humor." The man of many jobs—including the administration of the $3,700,000,000 PWA—was in an expansive mood as a reporter came upon him in his shirt-sleeves sitting at his desk piled high with documents. "I lose my sense of humor sometimes," he said, "but on the whole I keep it pretty well."

Swinging into more serious vein, he said: "The one thing that I am most interested in is conservation. I had rather do a good job here in conservation than anything else." "Conservation has never been recognized as a major concern of government and it won't be until it is all concentrated in one department, the head of which is a convinced conservationist."

General Johnson says he's going to make one more speech about the other fellows. And then they'll make one more about him. And then?

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JAGGER

New York, March 28 (AP).—The shadow of international monetary uncertainty was thrust across financial markets anew today and created fresh uneasiness that held price movements in a narrow area.

While some sort of drastic action had been looked for in Belgium, as a result of the prolonged difficulty experienced with its currency, suspension of course and foreign exchange trading was a mild surprise, and brought the financial community one step nearer the realization that a shakeup in international monetary units was inevitable with its repercussions on world trade and finance an unknown quantity.

In most of the list, a generally mixed tone prevailed. Utilities pointed downward under leadership of American Telephone and leading railroad shares continued shaky although Pennsylvania and one of two others held about even. Bethlehem Steel again proved its independence of the industrial group by rising a fraction when General Motors, U. S. Steel, General Electric, J. I. Case and Goodyear could do no better than hold even and in some cases dipping a trifle.

Parley Centered on European Security

Unofficial reports already indicated Germany made wide demands as the price for her participation.

Berlin Attitude.

Berlin, March 28 (AP).—The belief that the uncompromising stand adopted by Reichsfuehrer Hitler in the Anglo-German conversations may not have been entirely objectionable to Great Britain was expressed today in some German official circles.

These sources pointed out that it has been a cardinal tenet of British foreign policy to prevent any nation from attaining outstanding hegemony on the continent.

Similar rumors to the effect that Great Britain might welcome a degree of German rearmament as a check to France's domination in Europe also circulated in British quarters.

It appears Sir John did not even raise the question, which France would have like to have had him present, of whether Germany was justified in unilateral abrogation of the military clauses of the Versailles treaty.

The British foreign secretary, observers say, with a keen sense for reality, simply accepted forcible revision of treaties as an accomplished fact and proceeded to other issues.

Mrs. Hopkins Found Overcome by Stroke

Her Neighbors, Missing Seeing Her Around For Past Few Days, Call Up Police Who Enter House And Find Her Unconscious On Bathroom Floor Wednesday Night—Condition Critical.

Mrs. Elizabeth T. Hopkins, an elderly woman living alone in the house at 36 Johnston avenue, was reported in critical condition with but small hopes held for her recovery by Dr. D. S. Meyers, who is attending her since she was found by Policemen Relyea and McGrane, lying on the floor of the bathroom of her home, where she had been seized with a stroke. She was found about 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening by the police after Raymond E. Craft and William M. Davis, her neighbors, had called police headquarters on the telephone and stated they believed something had happened to her as they had not seen her about the house for the past two days.

As soon as the police department received the message the two officers were sent to the house in one of the patrol cars, and obtaining a key they unlocked the door and entered the house. Searching the first floor without success they ascended to the second floor and as they opened the bathroom door they found Mrs. Hopkins lying on the floor.

Dr. Meyers was notified and went to the house, and as her condition was so critical he decided it unsafe to have her removed to the hospital and special nurses were engaged to take care of Mrs. Hopkins.

The Kingston concern, against which an involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday, has assets estimated by Leo Hirsch, Inc., one of the petitioning creditors, at $500. Liabilities are stated to be "over $3,000." On the Hirsch statement to the court that a transfer of all the company's assets to one of the officers for $100 is to be made. Judge Cox issued an order enjoining such a sale.

Lencke Takes Title To Lorillard Plant

John K. Lencke, president of the Apollo Magneto Corporation on Grand street, on Wednesday took title to the Lorillard Refrigerating Company plant on Grand street. Mr. Lencke earlier in the month signed a contract to purchase the plant, and has now fulfilled that contract and taken possession.

Mr. Lencke when seen today stated that his plans were not ready to be made public but that he expected the wheels to start turning in the plant in the very near future.

LENTEN SERVICES

The union Lenten services in which the congregations of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, the Wittenberg Baptist, the Wittenberg Street Presbyterian and Trinity Methodist Episcopal Churches are participating are being well attended.

Thursday night the service will be held in the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, with Pastor Gamble as the preacher.

Friday evening the closing service will be held in Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church with the Rev. Clarence Brown preaching the sermon. There services are held at 7:45, and all people not worshipping elsewhere are most cordially invited.

Phoenicia Business Men Will Seek Better Road to the Catskills

Tuesday evening a meeting was held by the business people of Phoenicia for the purpose of organizing a Board of Trade which may take up matters of improvements to the Phoenicia district and try and bring back the summer tourist business for which so many years Phoenicia was famous. A number of public improvements have been discussed which will make this little mountain village more attractive for vacationists.

A preliminary meeting was held a week ago and at the meeting Tuesday evening an organization was perfected. A committee was appointed to draw up a set of by-laws to present to the members at future meeting. Herbert C. Segelken was elected president of the association; J. H. Shurter, vice-president; J. Gordon, secretary and H. Lee Breithaupt, treasurer.

W. C. Weyman presided at the meeting as temporary chairman. A committee was appointed to take up the matter of a better roadway to the Catskills from Kingston. It was expressed by many that with a better road much more summer traffic would pass. This committee will take action on having a concrete roadway built from Kingston to Pine Hill at the earliest possible date.

This road committee is J. McGrath, John Lurie, S. B. Schwarzwald, Speakers were Herbert Segelken, J. Gordon, J. H. Shurter, Mr. Simpson, Jerome Newman and Lloyd Kinsey. Several ideas were advanced as to how Phoenicia might be made a better summer vacation town by closer cooperation among the residents.

Since Phoenicia is one of the hamlets lying along the Esopus, its reputation as a fishing center for trout is well known. Recently through the addition of the Schoharie waters to the Esopus the fishing has been poor. Efforts will be made to have this corrected and all members of the Board of Trade were urged to get behind the Phoenicia Fish and Game Association and lend their support so that more might be accomplished to restore the village as a fisherman's paradise. A sports committee was named composed of Jerome Coots, James H. Shurter, George Kinsey, Ralph Cramer, representing the conservation department, was an interesting speaker. He explained that one thing which the department intended to do was to widen out the "Tower Trail" to twelve feet, bank it and have it in a condition to be used as a ski run in winter.

The committee on roads was instructed to get in communication with Senator Wicks and Assemblyman Conway and endeavor to have them use their influence in getting better roads through the mountain section.

The next meeting of the association will be held the first Tuesday in April.

Kaunas, Lithuania, March 28 (AP). The Lithuanian government took a calm view today of the German demonstrations against the action of her courts in sentencing four Nazis to death and 87 others to prison terms for an alleged plot to seize Memei for Germany.

The government was said in official circles to be of the opinion Lithuanian justice was a matter of no concern to Germany or any other foreign country.

As a precaution against any outbreaks of violence resulting from the excitement, all police leaves were cancelled and authorities both in Memei and Lithuania warned to maintain constant vigil.

Legionnaires Lose Overtime Game To Philadelphia Hebrews, 37-44

The basketball classic of the season was played at the Municipal Auditorium Wednesday night between the Philadelphia Hebrews and Frank "Pop" Morgenweck's Kingston Legionnaires, who lost after putting on one of the most sensational rallies ever seen at the big community center from the days that basketball started there, down through the various leagues, to the present.

Final score of the game in favor of the 1933 champions of the American League was 44-37, the result of a conflict that went five minutes overtime and was packed with everything that one could ask for in a basketball game—easy plays, sensational shots and passes, pick-offs and a generous amount of that roughness that makes professional ball the popular attraction it is.

That colorful rally by the Legionnaires was in the second period. They garnered 20 points in the frame and held the howlered Spahs, as the Hebrews are also called, to three markers. After settling the fans off in an outburst of cheers, by the feat, the locals dropped back in the third period, however, they tied the score on a foul by Frank Shimek, and went overtime to settle the issue.

In the extra period the Hebrews showed what conditioning does for an athlete in the pinches. They romped through the five minutes without any apparent strain and shot the six fields and four that gave them the game by seven points. One field by Bill Hamilton was Kingston's only tally.

Stars in the offensive drives were Frank Shimek for the Morgenweckers with 13 points, highest individual score of the game, and Cy Kaselman for the Hebrews with 12. Captain Carlo Husta was next to Shimek for the locals with 11 and Goldman second for the Spahs with 10.

At the opening tip the Philadelphia team started off at a swift clip. Goldman, the rangy center, dropped in two long ones to begin the scoring. Frank Shimek then got his eye on the basket and tied up the count with two pretty deuces. However, from this point until the last 30 seconds, it was all Philadelphia. Lauman and Fitch between them garnered 11 points before the Legionnaires could halt them. Shimek counted with another field just before the bell and the score stood 15-6 in favor of the visitors.

Legionnaires Rally.

In the first 60 seconds of the second period the Legionnaires took a turn at fast scoring and started what probably was the fastest rally that the excited fans had seen throughout the entire season. They scored no less than 20 points while the bewildered Hebrews struggled for three.

Kurtika started the ball going with a long shot from the floor. Stanton followed with a foul. Carl Husta sank two in quick succession. This brought the count to 13-15. Lauman, the deuce, then took over. Morgenweckers put on the power. The crowd went wild as the shots popped in the baskets in machine-gun fashion. Hamilton, Shimek and Stanton made good on fouls and then Frank Shimek put the Legion out in front for the first time with a field. The count was 18-17.

Then the two-pointers began to fly. Husta dropped in three, one after the other putting the home club in the van 24-17. The Auditorium became a bedlam. There were whistles, shouts and noises of all kinds. As the urge to win grew stronger Corky Stanton put in a deuce and shoved the lead up to 26-17. Lauman made it 18 for the Hebrews with a complimentary shot just before the whistles.

Goldman opened the third period with a loss from the field, making the score 26-20 with the visitors behind. Shimek got one back for the shot tossed in by the Philly center. Then the American League stars' famous "crackshot," Cy Kaselman, looped two in succession and Gotthoffe caged a foul. The score stood 28-25, Kingston three points in the lead.

Spahs in Front Again.

A field by Stanton and a foul by Kurtika gave the Morgenweck brigade a lift and brought the score up to 31-25. Kaselman popped in another and so did Goldman, creeping up on the Kingstonians. 31-29. Stanton scored again. Kaselman retaliated with a field and Shimek dropped in a free one to make the tally 34-31 with the Legion boys out in front. Kaselman put in another of his sensational shots and Gotthoffe did likewise giving the Hebrews a one-point lead, 35-34.

The crowd went into a loud uproar as a foul was called on Shimek. He went to the baby stripe, took aim as quiet enveloped the hall, and dropped the ball through the hoop to tie the score. The fans went into an uproar. Kingston still had a chance.

After a short rest, the cage warriors went to it again in an extra five minute period that saw the Spahs assert the decision from the Legionnaires with four fields and a foul. Kaselman scored one of the deuces. Gotthoffe two and a foul and Goldman a two-pointer. One field by Hamilton, the last shot of the game, was the only score made by the Morgenweckers' crew during the frame.

Bahl Wins for Stars Over Teachers, 24-21

The Kingston Stars, featuring varsity players, scored a 24-21 victory over the Kingston High School faculty in the school gymnasium Wednesday afternoon, when Ed Bahl tossed in two long shots in the last minute of play.

A rally after the intermission, when the score read 13-7 in favor of the students, brought the teachers up and past their rivals until the tally was 23-21 in their favor with the timer's watch ticking off the final minute. Then Bahl looped in two from the middle of the court, saving the day for the Stars.

Besides winning the game, Bahl was second highest scorer for the winners, being three behind Ed Bock, who had nine to his credit. Whiston made nine for the teachers and Fuller eight.

Final Workouts for The Steeplechase

Liverpool, Eng., March 28 (AP).—With distribution of more than eight million dollars hanging on the outcome, twenty-seven horses, five of them American-owned, went through their final workouts today in preparation for the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree tomorrow.

Experts believe the race lies among Dorothy Paget's Golden Miller, last year's winner and top-weight of the field with the assignment of 175 pounds; John Hay Whitney's American-owned Thomond 2nd, third in the 1934 running; and F. E. Peck's Tapinoise, a lightly weighted French-bred jumper.

American owners remained confident. "Remember," said Whitney, "that Golden Miller finished only a length in front of my horse in the Cheltenham at even weights and tomorrow he'll have an 8-pound pull."

George H. (Pete) Boswick, who will ride his own horse, Castle Irwell, declared: "I'd just as soon be on Castle Irwell as any other horse in the race. He has shown that he can take the Aintree jumps. Don't be surprised if we are right up there with the leaders at the finish."

Runyan Makes 65, Six Under Par, and Heads 100 of the Best

Pinehurst, N. C., March 28 (AP).—Threats of rain held no terror for diminutive Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., as he set out today over moist fairways on the second round of the North and South Open Tournament three strokes ahead of his nearest challengers and six swings under par.

With a brilliant display of iron and woods through snows and wind gusts, the little P. G. A. champion yesterday raked Pinehurst's No. 2 course for 65 to head a band of 100 of the nation's best money winners.

"It was the best single round of my life, under the conditions," was the leader's comment, even though wood seconds were needed to reach the carpets on the longer holes.

Only two others could better 70. They were Ray Mangrum of Los Angeles and Felix Serran of Scranton, Pa., who plodded through the rain for 68.

Willie MacFarlane of Tuckahoe, N. Y.; Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., and Byron Nelson of Texarkana, Texas, were able to better par, the trio turning up 70s.

A stroke back of them with par 71s were Mike Turnesa of Elmford, N. Y.; Clarence Clark of Bloomfield, N. J.; Harry Cooper, Chicago, and Joe Ezar of Waco, Texas.

Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., defending champion and winner of last week's Charleston Open, was well back in the field with a 73.

Those doing the state in 72 were: Denny Sloss of Philadelphia, Jules Huot, Quebec; Tony Manfro, Greensboro, N. C.; Tom Kerrigan, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Sam Parks, Pittsburgh; Chandler Harper, Norfolk, Va.; Ky Lafoon, Denver; Bobby Cruickshank, Richmond, and Dick Chapman, amateur, of Greenwich, Conn.

The field will be cut to the low 60 players after today's 18 holes, and the event will wind up tomorrow with a 36-hole finale.

It was a rally in the third quarter that put the Tesslomen on top after they had trailed 6-3 for the first and 9-6 for the second quarters. Following the intermission the Z's went to work and rolled up eight points in the third frame. During the same stanza Eddie Coughlin's boys made only three points.

Continuing their advantage throughout the fourth quarter the Z. N. P. five came out victorious over the Oilmen who will take another crack at Tessio's cagers next Tuesday preliminary to the Celtic game. Ed Coughlin hopes to see his chargers win the second duel and then play off the deciding match at White Eagle Hall, home court of the Z. N. P. club, Thursday night, April 4.

BASKETBALL TEAMS CLASH FOR EASTERN STATES TITLE

Glens Falls, N. Y., March 28 (AP).—Eight of the leading scholastic basketball teams in the east clash here tonight at the 16th annual renewal of the Glens Falls Eastern States Tournament.

Two former winners of the tournament, Mont Pleasant High School of Schenectady and Pacific High School of Pacific, N. J., are expected to provide one of the spectacular games of the three-day meet as they oppose each other tonight.

SPEED KING CRASHES FISH

Gar Wood (below) America's speedboat ace, was flirting with death an instant after the photo of his speeding boat (above) was snapped. As he roared between 115 and 125 miles an hour down Biscayne Bay, Miami, his boat flashed through a school of frolicking porpoises, causing the port propeller to break. An idea of the speed can be gathered by the seaplane above. At the time, Wood was rapidly scooting away from it. (Associated Press Photos)

Reds Have Major Freshmen for the "Long Pull" Out of National Cellar

Tampa, Fla., March 28 (AP).—In sharp but interesting contrast to the Boston Braves' dramatic experiment with glorified age, just across the bay, the Cincinnati Reds are concentrating almost exclusively on the development of youthful baseball talent of the grade "A" or "AA" variety, with an ear to the ground and an eye for the future.

The Reds will find it extremely difficult to fight their way out of the National League cellar, where they have been kicking around for the past four years, despite the "new spirit" and enthusiasm generated under the leadership of Charlie Dressen.

Building For Future.

It would be expecting a great deal of a club composed nearly two-thirds of major league freshmen to hurdle any of the opposition they will be up against, this season, but Redland fans at least will have the satisfaction of seeing an outfit that is definitely on the upgrade and building for the "long pull."

The Reds will also break up the monotony by inaugurating the novelty of night games, one with each rival club if possible. The success or failure of this experiment will be watched with close interest by all.

Progress Evident.

Close observers acknowledge that Dressen has made real progress in developing his youthful squad. Its defense, featuring an all-freshman infield, is improved. There is power in the batting order. Finally, the showing of several pitching newcomers is sufficient to warrant more optimism than existed earlier in March.

The work of Al Hollingsworth and Gene Schott, both obtained from Toronto, and Leroy Herrman, right-hander who won 27 games for San Francisco last season, has been

Mobile, Ala.—The New York Giants' cripples are having their troubles. Mel Ott, who had a sore right heel, hit himself on the toe with a batted ball; Joe Moore's Charley horse was aggravated yesterday when he got in front of a pitched ball, and Allyn Stout, his ailment having been diagnosed as German measles, has been severed from the squad until he recovers.

Orlando, Fla.—Now that it's too late to do anything, the Dodgers have begun to wonder how Pat Malone got out of the National League. Manager Casey Stengel said he didn't agree to a waiver and Business Manager Bob Quinn, who revealed that Brooklyn had refused to waive on Malone last winter, said he didn't know how it happened. Both agreed the big hurler might have come in handy had he been claimed from St. Louis.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Walter Brown, the oversize hurler who has threatened several times to make good with the Yankees, has run into a new handicap in his latest effort, a trick knee. Brown gave his left knee, hurt chasing flies early in the training season, another twist while walking around his yard at home and the cartilage slipped again. He may not be able to pitch before the Yanks return to New York.

WRESTLING LAST NIGHT.

Cleveland—Daniel O'Mahoney, 218, Ireland, threw Scotty McDougall, 219, two straight falls.

Trenton, N. J.—Sandor Szabo, 212, Hungary, and Joe Dusek, 215, Omaha, drew (one fall each, both counted out on third).

With a good advance sale of reserved seats and all details completed in tip-top order, all arrows point to success for the debut of boxing here under the supervision of the Adirondacks division of the A. A. U. Friday night at the Municipal Auditorium for the benefit of the American Legion welfare fund.

Les Barth, who has been busy answering 1914 and taking orders for the reserved seats, yesterday said that a large number of boxing fans had asked that places be kept for them. One lady called asking whether women would be permitted to see the bouts. "Yes, they are especially invited," said Les. Student tickets will be sold, too, and it is expected that a number of high school students, athletically inclined, will attend the show.

The ring for the bouts will be erected in the Auditorium following the free vaudeville show there tonight, ending the big program of preparations by the Legionnaires for their bill of fistcuffs.

Friday's show will be the first staged here since last summer when professional scraps, featuring Madison Square Garden boxers, were promoted by the Legion. The servicemen believe the A. A. U. does will show as much action as the fights and hope to put on a series of bouts if patronage warrants the great efforts necessary to do it.

The card of bouts for Friday follows:

Frankie Mirable, 126, Adirondack A. A. U. champion vs. Pal Gardiner of Saranac Lake, state title holder.

Semi-Final.

Business Girls Hear Talk on Life in Africa

There was an excellent attendance at the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday evening, of the members of the Business and Professional Girls at the club supper. After the appreciated supper, there were a few details concerning the coming conference noted, Miss Helen Bryant, the president, presiding.

Then came the report that Mrs. G. F. Rice, the loved president of the Y. W. C. A., who has been sick for many weeks, was critically ill at her home on Downs street.

Miss Bertha Waterman, chairman of the National-Wide Observance Committee read a message from the President of the National Y. W. C. A. and other national officers and telegrams and letters from Albany from the Federal Business Girls Association, from the Business Girls of Schenectady, and the National Girls Banquet Committee. Miss Waterman also spoke earnestly of the value of the Y. W. in fostering the friendly spirit between nations that must in time be a big factor in the abandonment of war.

Miss Bryant then introduced Mrs. Van Gelder who had spent 19½ years in the interior of Africa, as a missionary, an outstanding example of the promoting of the peace of Jesus Christ.

Mrs. Van Gelder is a delightful little lady with no professional welfare atmosphere about her, but a very evident intense and sincere Christianity. Beginning with her first desire when a mere child, to become a missionary to black people whom she liked, and later of a "vision" she had when undergoing a serious operation, of seeing the great round world at her feet, with one little empty space, which she was told was her space in life to fill. Mrs. Van Gelder went on to tell of going with her husband and two children to Africa, the filling of her "empty space".

She told charmingly of their stops at Pasadena, and San Francisco, at Tahiti and New Zealand, and their various receptions in each place where kindness was the invariable spirit shown them whatever else might happen.

At Sydney, they met with a curious experience. There they found a Y. M. C. A. and a Y. W. C. A. both of remarkable size, equipment and efficient service to those staying under either roof. The husband went to the Y. M., and she took the two tiny lads with her to the Y. W., but "men" were not allowed at the Y. W., so after considerable maneuvering the father took his two tiny "men" with him, and all went well for the few days they were there.

On reaching the coast of Africa where they were to spend six months time in learning the language and becoming acquainted with climate, etc., etc., they were met by a man who had spent thirty-five years there and who most kindly started them on their way of life there. Their residence was a small abandoned church without a roof, which was later supplied after a sort by a grass roof made by the natives. In due time they went far into the heart of Africa.

The difficulties of learning the language were almost insuperable because the natives file their teeth in strange shapes which affects the pronunciation of words. They finally found they could best learn the strange words from the children before they were old enough for the teeth-filing process.

Mrs. Van Gelder's description of the Sunday school work with some 280 little black babies and children was most illuminating and interesting, and very human. She and her family found continued need of faith in prayer and in God. One instance was when she found herself face to face with a horrible, deadly snake in one of the rooms of their tiny home. As she prayed for help she all unwittingly did the one right thing in such an emergency, stood absolutely still, for she was too frightened to move, and in a short time the snake put down its head and slid outside the house where later it was killed.

The natives had strange ways of trying to find out how all-powerful these white people were. All conversation with the natives was carried on by means of an interpreter, a young lad who was devoted to them. A chief brought to her an old umbrella with torn cover, and an old piece of dirty white cloth, with the request that she mend it. At first refusing, she learned that it was a "test" and then she took a cover from one of their own umbrellas and put it on the frame, and her and superiority was fully established.

A far more distressing ordeal was that of the arrival of the head of a tribe who had befriended them. He came to ask her to enter the bond of "blood brotherhood," with him. That meant that there should be an incision made in the flesh of each, letting a small amount of blood which would be mingled together and then she must eat food with them. She felt that to be impossible, but when she saw the terrible disappointment on the faces of the hoard of black people who had arrived lest she would not be their friend, she went through the sickening performance, by the grace of God, and won the lasting loyalty and service of that tribe.

This stood Mrs. Van Gelder in great good for later, when she was alone with her two children, they heard the terrifying sound of approaching footsteps of an uprising tribe coming nearer and nearer. It sounded like a war dance.

Coming close to and surrounding the house these men dragged her out and she did not know whether or not they meant to kill her. But they gave her time to think about it all, and during that time the interpreter boy had gone on a desperate run to find the chief of the tribe which had befriended them. He found the chief, but it took a little more time to gather together his people. However, they arrived on the scene before damage had been done, and after due parleys the two tribes became friendly and her life was saved so that the possibility of their extending their work was greatly enhanced.

They found these black people greatly interested in the story of Jesus Christ and willing to learn many things. If one had patience, courage and the power of God to guide them.

At this very interesting point, Mrs. Van Gelder reached the limit of the time allotted her to speak, but the Business and Professional girls are hoping that she may come back and tell them more of her life in the interior of Africa.

Treasury Expects Profit This Month

Washington, March 28 (AP)—Because of heavier income tax receipts, the treasury seems destined to operate at a profit during this month for the first time in 41 months.

The last month for which it was able to show a profit was September, 1931. Since then there has been a steady succession of monthly deficits.

March income, through the 25th, was running ahead of all expenditures, including extraordinary payments to aid unemployment and relief, by more than $70,000,000. This is due to income tax payments, which for the month already have amounted to more than $221,000,000.

With this "cushion" and with only six days remaining, it seems impossible for the treasury to go "into the red" this month. The present deficit amounts to $2,179,290,383 for the fiscal year to date, which is equivalent to a daily excess of expenditures of $8,130,000 for every day of the year.

Should this ratio prevail during the remaining days of March there would still be a surplus of more than $20,000,000 remaining for the month's operations.
